SOUTHERN G. O. P. SLASHED TO BONE BY PARTY BOSSES

In Future National Conventions of Republican Party South Will Furnish Only 16 Per Cent of Delegates.

TEN DELEGATES LOST BY GEORGIA G. O. P.

And Other Southern States Lose in Proportion—The Southern Delegates Under New Plan Will Total 164.

Washington, December 17.—The republican national committee tonight concluded its labor for reform in party procedure, and launched its campaign for a reunion of warring elements, by adopting a resolution providing for a radical change in the basis of representation in national nominating conventions which would reduce the quota of southern states from 33 to 16 per cent of the convention's total.

Action Made Unanimous.

The action of the committee, criticised in vigorous terms by several of its members, but made unanimous before adjournment, must be indorsed by states entitled to cast a majority of votes in the electoral college before it becomes party law.

In order that such action shall be taken as promptly as possible the committee appointed a subcommittee of three, consisting of Charles B. Warren, of Michigan; Senator Borah, of Idaho, and Governor Hatfield, of West Virginia, to prepare an address to the states urging immediate ratification of the proposal. This address will be drawn up shortly after the Christmas holidays, and leading members of the committee expressed the hope tonight that it would be met by early action.

Approval by the states will insure a call from the national committee for the national convention of 1916 along the lines laid down today.

The reorganization plan adopted came as a compromise which reflected the views of many committeemen that southern representation should be reduced, but not brought to the vanishing point.

Text of Resolution.

The resolution reads as follows:

"Confident that the action of this committee, representing as it does, practically the unanimous sentiment of the republican electors of the states, will be ratified by the republican electors of the states,

"Be it resolved: that this committee shall issue a call for the national convention to be held in the year 1916 to nominate candidates for president and vice president in accordance with the following basis of representation:

"Each state shall be entitled in such convention to four delegates at large; one delegate at large for each representative in congress at large from any state; one delegate from each congressional district; an additional delegate from each congressional district in which the vote either for republican presidential electors in 1908, or for the republican candidate for congress in 1914, shall have been not less than 7,500 and that for each delegate chosen an alternate delegate shall be chosen in the same manner and at the same time to act in the absence of the delegate.

"Provided, however, that the above basis of representation shall not be made the basis of the call for the national convention to be held in the year 1916, unless prior to January 1, 1915, republican state conventions held under the laws of the states, or called by the republican state committees of the states in such number of states as are entitled to cast a majority of the votes in the present electoral college, shall ratify the action of this committee in respect to determining this basis of representation."

The Vote on Resolutions.

The vote on the resolution was as follows:

Aye: Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Florida, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Missouri, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, North Carolina, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Utah, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin—38.

Nay—Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Nebraska, South Dakota, Texas, Virginia—7.

According to figures submitted by the subcommittee, the new plan would reduce the total number of delegates from 1,078, as in 1812, to 933.

Under it these states would lose delegates:

Alabama, 9; Arkansas, 3; Florida, 4; Georgia, 10; Illinois, 2; Kentucky, 1; Louisiana, 7; Mississippi, 8; New York, it, givin galso the percentage of votes South Carolina, 7; Tennessee, 3; Texas, 15; Virginia, 9, and Hawaii 4.

The southern states would have 164 delegates in all.

The District of Columbia and Alaska were provided with two delegates each by separate action, and the Philippines, Porto Rico and Hawaii also were given two each without the right to vote.

Howell Urges Bigger Reduction.

R. B. Howell, of Nebraska, led the fight against the resolution. He said republican voters would not be satisfied with a reduction of the sort proposed, and pointed out the comparative strength of the delegations from several northern and southern states under it, giving also the precentage of votes cast in these states to show the republican weakness below Mason and Dixon's line, and strength above it. He proposed as a substitute one of the plans submitted by the republican national committee, which provided for four delegates-at-large from each state and one delegate in addition for each ten thousand votes or major fraction thereof cast for the republican candidate for presidential electors in 1908. This plan would reduce southern representation to 119 delegates.

Mr. Howell was opposed by Senator Borah, former Governor Hadley holding the Louisiana proxy. Committeemen Remmel, of Arkansas, and McGregor, of Texas, and H. L. Johnson, a District of Columbia negro, who held a proxy from Georgia.

Remmel Defends Dixie Republicans.

Committeeman Remmel, of Arkansas, said that the history of republican conventions showed conclusively that the southern contingent always had followed the lead of the northern majority in support of presidential candidates.

"Are you going to kick us out and make the republican party a sectional party?" he asked, shaking his fist at Mr. Howell. "Treat us fairly. Encourage us as we deserve to be encouraged and don't try to throttle us."

On a vote Mr. Howell's motion to substitute the congressional committee's plan was beaten 40 to 5, Nebraska, North Dakota, Pennsylvania, South Dakota and Wisconsin voting in the affirmative.

The committee adjourned with no set plan for future meetings and probably will not convene again until 1916.

Amalgamation Movement.

Indianapolis, Ind., December 17.—A movement for the amalgamation of the republican and progressive parties in this (Marion) county was started at a meeting here last night, at which representatives from every ward and practically every precinct in the county were present. Mayor Harry Wallace, chairman of the Marion county republican central committee, was among the speakers.

All of the speakers agreed that the rank and file of the two parties in the county were ready to merge and had no differences and that it was disagreement between certain leaders of both factions that had caused the split in the republican party.

Benjamin Heaton, a progressive, was appointed chairman of a committee of ten which will make the plans for the union of the two parties.

WOULD-BE BRIDEGROOMS SEPARATED FROM WEALTH

Martin Farris, Wife and Daughters Accused of Huge Matrimonial Swindle.

Indianapolis, Ind., December 17.—Martin W. Farris, of Princeton, Ind., who, with his wife and daughters, Louise and Ora, were indicted here on a charge of misusing the mails in operating a matrimonial bureau, today told Judge A. B. Anderson in federal court that Louise alone was responsible for what Charles W. Miller, district attorney, characterized as one of the biggest matrimonial swindles operated in this country. Farris and his wife appeard in court today and withdrew their plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty, which they withdrew after Mr. Miller had outlined the government's case.

Louise Pleaded Guilty.

Miss Louise pleaded guilty to the charges when arraigned yesterday, but she has not been sentenced. Miss Ora has not been arraigned.

Mr. Miller, in outlining the government's case, declared that the plan of the swindle was for Louise to write letters to men who wished to marry her, Mrs. Farris mailed the letters, he said, Ora warned away prospective bridegrooms and if they became insistent the father threatened them. Five men, who had proposed to Louise, arrived in Princeton at the same time, Mr. Miller said, and at one time she was engaged to fifty men. One of the victims who sent Louise $100 was a prominent pugilist, the district attorney asserted.

According to Mr. Miller, there always was a scramble at the Farris home in Princeton when packages or letters arrived and the first member of the family to open a package or letter kept its contents.

Many Would-Be-Bridegrooms.

Mr. Miller told of many prospective bridegrooms who had sent diamond bracelets, diamond rings, money and railroad tickets.

Louise, who confessed her part in the scheme, Mr. Miller said, told him that she wrote to the disgruntled lovers threatening to have them arrested for "trying to lure a young, innocent girl away from home," if return of money or jewelry was demanded.

After Farris and his wife had listened to Mr. Miller's story they withdrew their plea of guilty and again pleaded not guilty.

Judge Anderson ordered the bonds of Farris and his wife increased to $10,000 and they were taken to jail, being unable to furnish the amount. The date of their trial was not set.

CHAS. B. GASKILL DIES FROM HEART FAILURE

Wealthy Pioneer Citizen Is Found Dead in His Apartments on Forsyth Street.

Charles B. Gaskill, one of Atlanta's largest owners of real estate, was found dead in the bathroom at his home, 126 South Forsyth street, about 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The body was discovered by Mr. Derracote, who had been living in the house with him since Monday.

Mr. Gaskill was a bachelor, and had for many years lived alone at his Forsyth street home. He was a collector of curios and relics of all kinds, and had a veritable museum of oddities and rare articles at his home. He had been a constant reader of The Constitution since the beginning of publication of this paper, and had a complete file of copies.

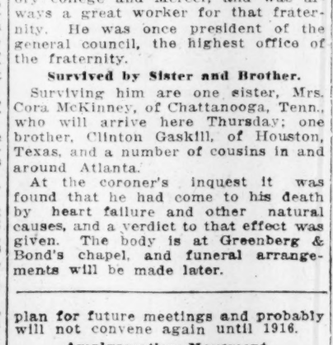

Student at Old Oglethorpe.

Mr. Gaskill was especially interested in the movement now on foot to refound Oglethorpe university, he being a classmate of Ex-Governor Joseph M. Brown and a graduate of the old institution. He was the founder of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity in Georgia, starting the chapters at old Oglethorpe, the University of Georgia, Emory college and Mercer, and was always a great worker for that fraternity. He was once president of the general council, the highest office of the fraternity.

Survived by Sister and Brother.

Surviving him are one sister, Mrs. Cora McKinney, of Chattanooga, Tenn., who will arrive here Thursday; one brother, Clinton Gaskill, of Houston, Texas, and a number of cousins in and around Atlanta.

At the coroner's inquest it was found that he had come to his death by heart failure and other natural causes, and a verdict to that effect was given. The body is at Greenberg & Bond's chapel, and funeral arrangements will be made later.

FINANCIAL PANIC CAUSING TROUBLE IN MEXIC CAPITAL

Run on the Central Bank Continues and Heavy Withdrawals Are Also Made From Other Banks.

HUERTA WILL ISSUE ANTI-PANIC DECREE

Bankers Hope a Decree by the Dictator Will Keep the Depositors from Clamoring for Money.

REBELS RAID A STATION IN 14 MILES OF CAPITAL

Mexico City, December 17.—The activity of the Zapata forces was manifested today by the raiding of the Los Reyes station on the main line of the Inter-Oceanic railroad, 14 miles from the capital. The operations were without material effect on the general situation to the south of the city, around Milpa Alta and Ajunco.

Mexico City, December 17.—A presidential decree making the state bank notes legal tender throughout the republic, a guarantee fund to be subscribed by the state banks and deposited in the national bank, and finally, a government guarantee of the bank notes, is the program decided upon by a committee of five bankers, representing the National, the Bank of London and Mexico and two or three other concerns, which met this afternoon with the acting head of the finance department.

Huerta to Issue Decree.

No difficulty is anticipated in having President Huerta issue the decree, the bankers deeming this the only means of maintaining in circulation a sufficient amount of the medium of exchange.

The management of the Central bank exhausted the reserve deposit funds of only three more state banks today by adroit delay in paying and by refusal to accept more than 20 per cent of the bills offered for redemption.

Long before the regular hour of opening a double line of holders of notes stretched a block from the doors, and when the bank closed this afternoon those half-way in the line at the beginning had not reached the paying teller's window.

Although the Central bank's difficulties do not concern directly any other bank, yet an inevitable reflection was manifested today, particularly in the case of the Bank of London and Mexico, where there was a heavy withdrawal of deposits.

Flooded With the Currency.

The panicky condition growing out of the refusal of state bank bills was augmented today by the flooding of the city with this currency by refugees, chiefly Spaniards, from the northern states, each of whom brought an accumulation. The refugees naturally applied to the Central bank, which was quickly confronted with the outlook of being drained of redeemable paper and left with notes possibly good, but not easily convertible. This was due to the fact that the banks of issue were unable to ship silver for the redemption of the paper on account of the refusal of an express company to carry the money through rebel infested districts.

BRYAN IS BELIEVER IN MEXICO'S FUTURE

Washington, December 17.—Secretary Bryan, replying to an inquiry, told the house foreign affairs committee today that he had faith in Mexico's future and that there was no reason why the United States should hesitate about buying embassy property there. He had asked the committee to appropriate $150,000 for embassies in Mexico City and Tokio and $140,000 for a building in Berne, when one of the members inquired if it would not be advisable, in view of conditions, to postpone construction of a building in Mexico.

Mr. Bryan emphasized that the government should provide embassies so that poor men would not hesitate to accept diplomatic posts.

"We should not force this government to choose its diplomats from rich men only," he said. "There are not enough men among our money makers fitted for the best diplomatic service and we should not allow rich diplomats to set a standard of expense that would embarrass those who succeeded them in an effort to keep up the pace."

HUERTA ORDERS ARMY TO PURSUE GEN. VILLA

Ojinaga, Chihuahua, Mexico, December 17.—"Unless present plans are changed and I see no reason why they should be, the federal army will leave Ojinaga within a few days to march to Chihuahua, with a view of attacking and recapturing that city from the rebels."

General Salvador Mercado, commander-in-chief of the federal army of the north, made this assertion in his camp here today. He said Ojinaga will be evacuated and the federal army under his command would march toward Chihuahua.

The commander's statement was given wtihout the usual reservation attached to military plans. Others profess to believe, however, that the rebel forces in Chihuahua, the most important city in the far north, were too strongly entrenched to invite an attack by the federals.

"We came here to replenish our provision train and communicate with the war department at Mexico City," General Mercado continued. "Our orders are to attack the rebels. There seems to be little prospect of a battle here, for the rebels have not yet appeared in large numbers in this city. I never believed Villa's troops would be sent against Ojinaga for we were ready to meet them with 5,000 men and five batteries of artillery."

General Mercado would not comment on the reason for his evacuation of Chihuahua, except to say that his flight to the border at this point, opposite Presidio, Texas, was to enable him to communicate with Mexico City. In Chihuahua he had no way of ob-

ELLERY DIVIDES WITH OGLETHORPE

Brilliant Program Tonight Will End Engagement of Famous Fund—Sheldon to Play "Lost Chord."

The Ellery band, known as one of the finest musical organizations of its kind in existence, concludes its six-day engagement at the Atlanta Auditorium-Armory tonight. The band was brought here under the auspices of the Atlanta Music Festival association, and has been pronounced by many critics of good music one of the finest bands that has ever been heard in Atlanta.

The program tonight will be the most brilliant of the week. Mrs. Charles B. Sheldon, Jr., will, by special request, repeat on the organ the famous "Lost Chord," accompanied by the band. The program will be filled with harmonious gems from the best grand operas, interspersed with selections of the so-called popular hits.

Divide with Oglethorpe.

Mr. Ellery has decided to donate to the Oglethorpe university fund one-half of tonight's gate receipts, thus getting in line with Atlanta's pet hobby, and giving all Atlantans an opportunity to "kill two birds with one stone"—help out the Oglethorpe donation and at the same time hear some of the world's greatest music interpreted by a great band.

While the audiences so far have been small in number, they have been enthusiastic in their applause of the selections rendered. The numbers by Wagner and Gounod have been especially well interpreted.

The general admission has been placed at 50 cents, with half price for the gallery, and the Music Festival association has asked that all Atlantans who have not yet heard the band come out tonight and help prove that Atlanta is really the home of true music lovers, as well as give a big boost to the Oglethorpe fund.

March, "Coronation." Meyerbeer.

Overture, "Maximilian Robespierre," Litolff—Descriptive of the French revolution and the beheading of the famous leader, Robespierre.

Trumpet solo, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," Saint-Saens—Mr. D'Amico.

"Traumerei."

"La Traviata," scene from Act I., Verdi. Prelude, waltz, love duet, grand finale—Messrs. D'Amico and Rosano.

Comic opera, "The Red Mill," Herbert.

Waltz, "Die Hydropathen," Gungl.

"La Gioconda," grand finale, Act III., Ponchielli.

CARS COLLIDE IN FOG; ONE KILLED; SEVEN HURT

Knoxville, Tenn., December 17.—One dead, two seriously hurt and five others painfully injured, was the result of a collision due to a dense fog between two street cars in Lonsdale, a suburb, this morning. John Y. Conner, a Southern railway fireman, a passenger on the outgoing car, died tonight of injuries received, physicians having found it necessary to amputate both of his legs. Motorman Henry Roberts, who has both legs badly mangled, has never regained consciousness and will probably live only a few hours. Conductor Dan C. Bryant, the other seriously injured man, is in a critical condition following the amputation of his right leg.

EDITOR CUNNINGHAM STRICKEN IN OFFICE

Nashville, Tenn., December 17.—A. S. Cunningham, editor of The Confederate Vetaran, and widely known to both union and confederate veterans, is critically ill. He was found unconscious in his office this morning, suffering from a hemorrhage of the nose.

FOOL-PROOF DEVICE FOR THE AEROPLANE BY ORVILLE WRIGHT

New York, December 17.—In commemoration of the first power flight ever made by a heavier-than-air machine, Orville Wright was given a reception at the Aero Club of America tonight. Ten years ago, Wilbur and Orville Wright made their first flight in an aeroplane at Kitty Hawk, N. C., the former remaining in the air just 59 seconds.

Orville Wright announced tonight that his recently invented stability device would make the aeroplane as nearly fool-proof as anything could be, and that it was more accurate and reliable than any aviator. He is now simplifying the contrivance and hopes to have it completed in the spring. The aero club presented him with a resolution of esteem. The tenth anniversary of aviation was also observed at Hempstead Plains, where three monoplanes soared through the air in concerted movements for two hours at an altitude of 1,000 feet.

NEGRO MURDERERS FAIL TO ARRIVE IN ATLANTA

Placed in High-Power Touring Car, They Left Augusta Last Night.

Three negroes, confessed murderers of Mrs. Jefferson Irby at Wrens, Ga., were taken from the jail in Augusta last night and placed in a high-powered touring car to be brought to Atlanta by a devious route. At the last moment it was feared to trust them upon the train. At a late hour this morning the negroes had not been heard from, although deputy sheriffs at the Fulton county Tower were expecting their arrival at any moment.

It is believed that a puncture has delayed the party somewhere between Augusta and Atlanta. No reports of a party of lynchers have been received from near Augusta. Augusta does not know where the party can be.

William Hart, George Hart and Robert Paschall, the negroes, were ordered brought to Atlanta by order of Governor Slaton, acting on advice of Sheriff Clarke, of Richmond county, and Judge W. F. Eve, of Augusta, that a party of men were said to be on their way from Jefferson county to get the negroes.

The crime of which the negroes are accused and to which two of them are said to have confessed is one of the most brutal crimes ever committed in the annals of Georgia.

Was Brutally Slain.

Mrs. Jefferson Irby, who lived at Wrens, in Jefferson county, was found by her husband most brutally murdered with her head cut off and smashed to pieces with rocks and her little children hiding in bed. It is said that one of the negroes who committed the crime had a grievance against Mrs. Irby in that she did not pay him a debt which he claimed she owed.

The negroes, who are said to have committed the crime, were first tracked to their hiding places with blood hounds. Then they were taken to Waynesboro, the county seat of Burke county, for safe-keeping, where the militia of the county were called out to protect them.

Later they were rushed to the jail in Augusta, by automobile. On Wednesday, the governor decided from information which he received from Augusta that they should be transferred to Atlanta for safe-keeping.

PARDON FOR FATHER WHO KILLED SEDUCER

Philadelphia, December 17.—A pardon for Frank W. McMahon, a saloonkeeper, who was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced from five to ten years on December 1, 1911, after a sensational trial for the murder of George W. Leary, was recommended by the state board of pardons today at Harrisburg.

McMahon shot and killed Leary, a wealthy real estate broker, who, it was alleged, had been intimate with McMahon's daughter, a stenographer in Leary's office. The girl's letters to her employer were features of the trial.

America's greatest surgeons, gathered in Atlanta in attendance at the convention of the Southern Surgical and Gynecological association, enlivened Thursday's session by vigorously defending the methods and theories of Dr. Arthur Lane, England's great scientist.

Dr. Lane's operation, which has been discussed by surgeons all over the world, is known as the operation of colectomy, otherwise short-circuiting the lower intestine. The operation is resorted to as a cure for appendicitis. It comprehends the removal of the colon, and is said not to be an unqualified success.

Among those who defended the great Londoner were Dr. John G. Clark, of Philadelphia; Dr. Charles H. Mayo, of Rochester, Minn.; Dr. August Schachner, of Louisville; Dr. J. W. Long, of Greensboro, N. C.

Lane's most valiant defender was Dr. Long, of North Carolina, who declared that he made a trip to London to visit the clinics and hospital of the noted English specialist. He charged that in all his discussions of the methods and theories advanced by Dr. Lane he found that the young and inexperienced surgeon is the one who is most ready to condemn.

A Radical Operation.

"The fact that the Lane operation is a radical operation is no reason why it should be condemned," said Dr. Long. "It is a line of work which must be studied. The time is not ripe to condemn it without giving it careful consideration."

In his comment in defense of Lane's methods, Dr. Charles H. Mayo, of Rochester, who is considered one of the greatest of America's surgeons, declared that the London man now occupies a most enviable position as a surgeon. He called the attention of the association to the fact that it was Lane who was the first to open and explore the jugular vein. Dr. Mayo declared that Lane has done a great deal to put new surgical methods before the world.

"Once upon a time one-fourth of the literature was an abuse of Lane," Dr. Mayo said, "but now that he has pointed the way, he is being praised."

Long Visits Lane's Hospital.

Dr. Long also discussed the value of Lane's methods. He declared that when he visited the Lane hospital he was surprised to find gathered there

FOR U. S. OWNERSHIP OF THE TELEGRAPH AND PHONE LINES

Postmaster General Burleson Makes Sweeping Declaration in Favor of Acquisition by the Government.

POSTAL DEPARTMENT SUPPORTING ITSELF

Burleson, However, Declares Postal Service Will Be Conducted for Efficiency Rather Than Profit

Washington, December 17.—A sweeping declaration in favor of the principle of government ownership of telephone and telegraph lines and an assertion that the postal service now is self-supporting for the first time since 1883, are features of the annual report of Postmaster General Burleson, transmitted today to congress.

Concerning the acquisition of telephone and telegraph lines, Postmaster General Burleson says that the government has demonstrated its capacity to conduct public utilities, and, from his present information, he is inclined clearly to the taking over by the post-office department of the telegraph lines and, possibly, also, of the telephone lines. Discussing that the postmaster general says:

"A study of the constitutional purposes of the postal establishment leads to the conviction that the postoffice department should have control over all means of the communication of intelligence. The first telegraph line in this country was maintained and operated as a part of the postal service, and it is to be regretted that congress saw fit to relinquish this facility to private enterprise.

Wire Business Monopolistic.

"The monopolistic nature of the telegraph business makes it of vital importance to the people that it be conducted by unselfish interests, and this can be accomplished only through government ownership.

"The act of July 24, 1866, providing for the government acquisition of the telegraph lines upon payment of an appraised valuation and the act of 1902 directing the postmaster general to report to congress the probable cost of connecting a telegraph and telephone system with the postal service by some feasible plan are evidences of the policy of this government ultimately to acquire and operate these electrical means of communication as postal facilities, as is done by all the principal nations, the United States alone excepted.

"The successful operation of the parcel post has demonstrated the capacity of the government to conduct the public utilities which fall properly within the postal provision of the constitution.

"Every argument in favor of the government ownership of telegraph lines may be advanced with equal logic and force in favor of the government ownership of telephone lines. It has been competently decided that a telephone message and a telegram are the same within the meaning of the laws governing the telegraph service and therefore it is believed that the statute enabling the government to acquire, upon the payment of an appraised valuation, the telegraph lines of the country will enable the government to acquire the telephonic network of the country. While it is true that the telephone companies have not complied with the requirements of section 5267, Revised Statutes, this cannot be held to nullify the intent of the law, since the non-use on the part of the government of any of its constitutional privileges in no wise surrenders the right to exercise these privileges whenever the best interests of the nation demand.

"In June last a committee was appointed to make an investigation of this subject to determine the preliminary steps necessary for the government to take toward the acquisition of the telegraph lines of the country in accordance with section 5267 of the Revised Statutes. This committee is now engaged in preparing its preliminary report, and if the findings justify such action proper recommendation will be made by the department at a later date."

Postal Operations.

Postmaster General Burleson presents an elaborate statement of the financial operations of the postoffice department, including a discussion of the methods of bookkeeping, which he has changed.

"It is gratifying to report," says he, "that the total expense of maintaining the postal service for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1913, is found to be exceeded by the revenues for the same period; that there is an actual surplus of $3,841,906.78, and that the postal service is now for the first time since 1883 self-supporting."

As to his general financial policy Postmaster General Burleson says:

"The dominant policy of the present administration will be to conduct the postal service for the convenience of the public and not for profit. Its controlling purpose will be to promote efficiency by the complete standardization of the service, which will be attained by harmonizing equipment, adjusting the personnel, and securing the greatest possible co-operation in every quarter.

"The prime consideration in perfecting the personnel of the postal service shall be to recognize efficiency, and to eliminate partisanship. In the extension of service and in the imposition of charges the government must be guided not by the consideration of profit but by the needs of the people, who have a right to expect the most efficient postal service administered in the most economical manner possible, and made available to them at rates involving, for the service as a whole, no element of taxation. The service should be extended, with due regard for the exigencies of public revenue, wherever its benefits, commercial and social, warrant the expenditure necessary, irrespective of whether or not the revenue from each extension will defray the cost thereof."

Notable Recommendations.

Notable recommendations to congress for the enactment of additional legislation to facilitate and extend the operations of the postal service are made. Among the more important, are the following:

"That the postoffice department be given exclusive jurisdiction over the selection of the sites for public buildings to be used wholly for postoffice purposes, and joint authority with the secretary of the treasury in the selection of sites for federal buildings to be used jointly by the postal and other branches of the government service.

"To amend existing law in order to allow $2,000 indemnity for accidental death of any officer or employee of the postal service or for death within one year as the result of injuries sustained in the service in the line of duty. Provision is also made for leave with full pay for a period of one year for injuries sustained in the line of duty and then at half pay for not exceeding one year additional. This is an important recommendation for the reason that the existing law applies only to railway postal clerks, sea post clerks and postoffice inspectors.

"The elimination of surety bonds now required of postal officers and employeesand the substitution of guaranty fund established and maintained by assessments prescribed by the postmaster general.

"To authorize the postmaster general to contract for experimental aerial mail service, for which an estimate of $50,000 has been submitted.

Railway Mail Service.

"To permit the postmaster general to transfer clerks from postoffices of the first and second classes to the railway mail service at salaries higher than the entrance salary in the railway mail service. The purpose of this legislation is to bring about an interchangeable personnel between the railway mail service and the postoffice service, with a view to a more effective utilization of the entire force of postal employees and to afford better opportunities for the advancement of worthy and efficient clerks in postoffices.

"To extend the provisions of existing law so as to provide substitutes for railway postal clerks who are absent with pay on account of sickness, the expense of employing such substitute to be borne by the government instead of by the clerk.

"To authorize the issuance of postal money orders payable at any money order office.

"To authorize the removal of the limitation on the amount of postal savings deposits with the proviso that interest shall not be paid on more than $1,000. This will permit postal savings depositors to deposit any amount."

Growth of Parcel Post.

The report indicates that the growth of the parcel post business has been phenomenal. "The experience gained in the operation of the system under the revised rates and weights has shown that a further reduction of rates and increase of weight limit is justified," says the postmaster general.

"It is believed that the parcel post should be made eventually to serve the people as fully and completely as possible without interfering with the efficient conduct of the postal service, and that changes in the regulations that will have the effect of increasing the volume of parcel post mail should be made gradually and only after experience and investigation have shown that they may be put into effect without loss or detriment to the service."

In connection with what is referred to as the "prodigious growth" of the parcel post service, particularly, Mr. Burleson discusses additional compensation to the railroads for carrying the mails. He says that data is being secured by the department which will enable him to lay before congress at a later date his conclusions "as to what will be just and adequate compensation for all services which the railroads have rendered or will be called upon to render the government."

It is pointed out that the mailings of newspapers and periodicals as second-class matter at the 1-cent-a-pound rate and free in the county of publication "for the first time in the history of the postal service exceeded a billion pounds during the last fiscal year."

In connection with the transportation of magazines and other bulky second-class matter by fast freight, instead of by the regular mail routes, the postmaster general expresses earnestly the hope "that congress will remove the prohibition against the extension of this system of handling second-class matter and enable the department to apply it where found practicable."

Free Delivery in Villages.

It is the announced purpose of Mr. Burleson not to encourage the extension of free delivery of mails in villages because of the inferiority of the service and the impossibility to secure economical administration of it. It is his intention, therefore, wherever practicable to utilize the services of rural carriers for the delivery of mails in small towns.

On that phase of the service the report says:

"As rural routes emanate from practically all of the places where this village delivery service would be desired, the carriers should be used to make such deliveries as may be desirable and feasible to the residents of the villages. The compensation of rural carriers, however, at this time is based on the length of their routes and to make them available for the service indicated their salaries should be based upon an eight-hour day. With this change these carriers could be used not only to supplement the general delivery service as indicated, but in many instances in the delivery of parcel post matter as well, thus obviating the necessity for additional horse hire for the delivery of the larger packages. The compensation of rural carriers should therefore be changed from a mileage to an eight-hour basis, and these carriers should be permitted to deliver mail regardless of the distance from the postoffice or the corporate limits of the city or town."

In conclusion Postmaster General Burleson points out that the postoffice department is essentially a business institution, which touches every home in the land. A high standard of efficiency is demanded of all postal employees and he says that he will require from every postmaster his individual attention to the affairs of his office and that this requirement will be rigidly enforced.

"For this reason," he says, "the merit system should be adhered to in the postoffice department above all others in order to secure the very highest standard of efficiency in the conduct of its affairs."

CRISP LEADING FIGHT ON NATIONAL CAPITAL

Georgian Wants Citizens of Washington to Pay for Keeping Up City.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, December 17.—(Special.) Representative Charles Crisp, of Georgia, who is leading a fight to compel the citizens of Washington to bear the total expense of the upkeep of the city, won a victory today before the house committee on the District of Columbia.

His bill proposes to abolish the half-and-half system, under which congress has appropriated one-half of the city expenses, and throw the entire burden of upkeep upon the local taxpayers. Vigorous opposition has met this move.

The local residents say they have no voice in the government of the city; that congress passes all the laws under which they live, and it is unjust to require them to contribute all the money to meet any kind of municipal legislation congress might impose. The bill makes no provision for any substitute form of government to replace that in operation since 1878. It is not yet determined how the district is to raise annually the $11,000,000 now needed for its maintenance.

The Crisp bill would absolutely divorce the federal treasury and that of the district.

KELLOGG IS PURSUED BY THE SONG WRITERS

New York, December 17.—The state closed its case late this afternoon against Robert Kellogg, erstwhile piano salesman, charged with using the mails to defraud writers of song poems. William Miller, of the copyright offices in Washington, testified that records snowed the defendant had copyrighted but seven poems sent by clients, whereas, his agreement called for copyrighting each.

Kellogg then took the stand in his own defense.

Many composers of popular songs, Kellogg testified, have the gift of music, but are not musicians. "Often, the best they can do," he said, "is to pick out music for their songs on a piano with one finger. I revise the music of such compositions and put it into good condition. The writing of music is an inspiration and it sometimes takes weeks to write the music for even a popular song. I wrote about 1,200 songs during five years. My receipts amounted to about $800 a month."

Several witnesses who sent their poems to Kellogg testified in his behalf. Among them was John B. Van, an elevator starter. "It is a great mystery where my inspiration comes from," he said. "I prefer poetry writing to elevator starting, but elevator starting is more certain in its pay than poetry."

The titles of some of the songs sent to Kellogg, as testified to by witnesses who asserted they were satisfied with his publishing efforts, were "La Grippe, Kerchu," "The Drunkard's Pal," "The Millionaire's Grief," "When My Mother Used the Slipper" and "Under the Old Man's Table Again."

BARRETT ADDRESSES NORTH CAROLINA UNION

Shelby, N. C., December 17.—Featuring the opening session of the North Carolina Farmers' union, which convened for its winter meeting in this city today, was the address of Charles S. Barrett, of Union City, Ga., president of the national union, who dwelt on the increasing good feeling between rural communities and towns, paid a tribute to the union of this state, which he said had gone longer than any other similar organization, without a row, and charged his hearers to continue to "keep from acting the fool."

Six hundred delegates are in attendance on the meeting. After having been welcomed to Shelby this morning, the union heard the annual address of President H. Q. Alexander and reports from State Organizer J. Z. Green. Officers' reports will be continued at tomorrow's sessions.

VOTE ON CURRENCY FIXED FOR FRIDAY

Believed Measure Will Be Signed by President Before Christmas — Democrats Consider Certain Amendments.

Washington, December 17.—An agreement to vote on the final passage of the administration currency bill "on the legislative day of Friday, December 19," was reached in the senate late today. The agreement provides that debate tomorrow and Friday shall be limited to fifteen minutes for each senator upon each amendment or upon the bill itself.

While the legislative day may run over into Saturday, it is the expectation of senate leaders that the bill will be passed before midnight Friday night. If important amendments are pending at that time, however, a recess may be taken until Saturday morning, as the republicans would not consent to the agreement until the democrats promised they would not keep the senate in session all night Friday.

To Sign Bill Before Christmas.

Democratic Leader Underwood, of the house, was in conference with senate leaders today, in preparation for the final stages of congressional action on the currency measure. It is thought that but two days will be taken for the completion of the bill in the joint conference committee. House leaders have kept in close touch with all changes made by the senate, and they expect President Wilson's signature to be attached to the measure before Christmas. The big task of organizing a federal reserve bank, and creating the vast system of regional banks will then begin.

The senate spent today in consideration of further amendments proposed by Senator Hitchcock, defeating, by 41 to 37, his amendment to extend the guarantee of bank deposits to cover state banks that joined the new system, as well as national banks. Senator Owen expressed his approval of this idea, but the democrats would not support it because it had not received the indorsement of the caucus. A motion by Senator Hitchcock to increase from 90 days to 189 days the maturity date of paper that could be submitted for rediscount at the regional banks was also deefated, 39 to 34.

Democrats Consider Amendments.

The democrats gathered in a hurriedly-called conference at 6 o'clock tonight to settle all final differences over the bill, and agree upon amendments which they would support. The list of amendments submitted to the caucus included many of those which had been proposed by Senator Hitchcock or by republicans and voted down, and it was said several of these might be offered tomorrow or Friday by Senator Owen and adopted as part of the bill. With the defeat of the last of the Hitchcock amendments, which is expected early tomorrow, affirmative work on the currency bill will begin at once. The amendments comprised the essential features of the measure drafted by Senator Hitchcock and the five members of the senate banking committee. With these out of the way, Senator Owen will offer his bill, indorsed by the senate democratic cancus, as the substitute for the Glass bill that passed the house.

Republican senators joined Senator Hitchcock today in a strong fight agains the provision of the Owen bill limiting to ninety days' the maturity period of commercial paper that might be rediscounted at the proposed new regional reserve banks.

Would Hamper Country Banks.

Senators Crawford, of South Dakota, and McCumber, of North Dakota, declared it would make it impossible for country banks of the west to meet an emergency; and that the mass of six months' notes of farmers and stockraisers would be valueless in time of a panic beacuse they could not be rediscounted.

"With this ninety days' provision you are simply creating a bank of big banks," declared Senator Crawford, "a bank to help big banks, but for which you assess the little banks to get the capital. The little banks are simply commanded to carry wood and water for the big banks.

"You say to the Vanderlips and the Hepburns and the Morgans and the Reynolds, 'Come in with your short-term paper and get the money;' but you say to the Smiths and the Browns and the Joneses from the small country districts, 'Go somewhere else with your long-time farmers' paper; we cannot discount it.'"

Senator Shafroth replied that the limitation against long-term paper had been settled upon solely to assure the federal reserve banks having paper that would be "liquid" and quickdly convertible into cash in times of stress.

Reserve Section Revised.

Following the numerous attacks on the note issue provision and the reserve requirements of the bill by those who contended the measure would open the doors to inflation, the democratic conference tonight revised the reserve section. The required gold reserve behind the new circulating notes was increased from 35 per cent, as provided in the Owen bill, to 40 per cent with a tax of 1 per cent on depletion of the reserve down to 32½ per cent. An attempt to fix an arbitrary limit on the amount of notes to be issued failed.

Other amendments adopted provided for the use of a part of the surplus earnings of the regional banks for building up the gold reserve, for an increase in the compensation of the members of the federal reserve board from $10,000 to $12,000 as provided in the Hitchcock amendment and that all the member banks must receive the proposed new notes at par was approved.

The conference also decided to remodel section 8 of the bill, providing for the entrance of state banks and trust companies into the new system, and voted in favor of a provision whereby regional banks would be required to keep a fund intact in the treasury to provide for the redemption of outstandir notes.

No Action on Deposits Guarantee.

All these changes, with several other minor amendments, were referred to the democrats of the banking committee to be framed in detail. The conference took no action on the guarantee of deposits provision of the bill.

The conference considered, but did not act finally upon, a point involved in one of the Hitchcock amendments defeated on the floor of the senate today. This would allow regional banks to rediscount for member banks a specified percentage of six months commercial paper to accommodate banks in the country districts of the middle west. Under the Owen bill only paper maturing within ninety days would be eligible for rediscount.

The conference adjourned when the senate met at 8 o'clock, but will resume consideration of amendments tomorrow evening.

At tonight's session Senator Borah, of Idaho, made a lengthy argument in support of an amendment which he had proposed to the administration bill providing that the notes issued by the federal reserve banks be made legal tender.

"If you put the credit of the government of the United States behind this currency," he said, "why should that credit not be extended to the man who wants to pay his debts as well as to the man who wants to gather in the great wealth of the country through speculation?"

Hitchcock Amendment Beaten.

By a vote of 38 to 31 the senate rejected an amendment proposed by Senator Hitchcock providing that regional banks must extend to member banks, as a matter of right, rediscounts up to the amount of the member bank's capital stock, at the prevailing discount rate and up to twice the capital at increased rates.

Senator Norris voted with the democrats against the amendment. Under the Owen bill, the granting of re-discounts to member banks would be entirely in the discretion of the management of the regional banks.

Senator Hitchcock then proposed an amendment to increase to 45 per cent the gold reserve against issues of the new federal reserve notes.

ROAD FROM M'PHERSON TO THE RIFLE RANGE

Adamson Wants the Federal Prisoners to Build Highway.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, December 17.—(Special.)—Representative Adamson has again undertaken to secure the construction of an improved highway from Fort McPherson, near Atlanta, to the rifle range at Waco, Ga.

In a bill he introduced today, he proposed to authorize the secretary of war to use the federal prisoners in the United States penitentiary and the military prisoners at Fort McPherson for this work.

While the men are on the road, or too far away from headquarters to be returned each night, the counties in which they are working would have to bear the expense of housing and transportation.

Bell Works for R. F. D. Carriers.

Representative Bell won a hard fight for the rural delivery carriers today when he secured favorable consideration in the committee on postoffices and postroads of his bill to increase the carriers' salaries to $1,150 a year.

Although about forty bills for increases were before the committee, Mr. Bell's bill was the only one considered. It was amended to provide for an increase of $50 a year instead of $100, which he sought to secure.

On routes exceeding 24 miles in length, an additional sum equal to $22.50 per annum for each mile is provided.

On routes under 24 miles in length an increase of 10 per cent per annum for each mile is provided.

The total increase will cost the government $2,000,000 a year.

On those routes where the mail is carried only three times a week, the pay shall be one-half that provided above. The limit of increased pay for any carrier is made $75 a year. If the senate passes the Bell bill the increased pay will become effective July 1 next.

Savannah Wants Lighthouse.

A delegation from Savannah called on Edwin F. Sweet, assistant secretary of commerce, today and urged that city as the site for the new lighthouse of the sixth district, for which $125,000 has been appropriated by congress.

Mayor R. J. Davant headed the delegation. Others in the party were Judge A. B. Moore, Mayor W. W. Williamson, Judge J. Ward Motte, Colonel A. R. Lawton, R. S. Salas and E. J. Sullivan.

Savannah to Invite Wilson.

President Wilson will be waited on tomorrow by another delegation of Savannahans and urged to attend the unveiling of the monuments to Generals Nathaniel Stewart and Screven at old Midway cemetery. While the president is accepting practically no invitations that call him away from Washington, the Georgians are in hopes he will make an exception in this instance as a compliment to Mrs. Wilson, a number of her ancestors are buried at Midway cemetery. The monument for which Senator Bacon secured a congressional appropriation of $10,000 is now being completed by the McNeil Marble company, of Marietta, and the unveiling will take place whenever the president can be present.

Park Favors Mrs. Cheny.

Representative Frank Park has recommended the appointment of Mrs. S D. Cheny, of Donaldsonville, Ga., as postmaster to succeed her husband, Decatur Cheny, who died recently.

MRS. PANKHURST FREED IN STATE OF COLLAPSE

London, December 17.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, militant suffragette leader, was released from Holloway jail today. She had been imprisoned only since Saturday when she was arrested while on her way from Paris to London.

Mrs. Pankhurst was in a state of collapse because of her "hunger strike" and was taken in an ambulance to headquarters of the militant suffragettes where a physician was waiting. As soon as she is able she will go to Switzerland to recuperate.

RAILROAD FOR ALASKA DEBATED IN THE HOUSE

Washington, December 17.—Spirited debate in the house today marked the beginning of consideration of the bill for a government-owned railway in Alaska. Advocates of the measure described at length the project to build 733 miles of railroad from the southern coast of Alaska to the rich coal fields in the interior, while its opponents argued that the cost would be much greater than the territories committee had estimated and "the game was not worth the candle."

The debate is to be resumed next Wednesday, unless congress has adjourned for the Christmas holidays in the meantime, and the democrats in charge of the bill expect a vote without delay.

Representative Houston, of Tennessee, chairman of the territories committee, and Representative Lenroot, of Wisconsin, led the fight for the measure. Mr. Houston said a bond issue of $35,000,000 would meet the cost of the undertaking. Representative Lenroot declared that Alaska's present railroads were dominated by the so-called Guggenheim interests.

FEDERAL COMMISSION WILL EXAMINE THAW

Report of Commission Will Govern Judge Aldrich in Deciding Question.

Concord, N. H., December 17.—A commission to examine Harry K. Thaw to determine whether his liberty under bail would be dangerous to public safety was announced in a rescript issued by Judge Aldrich in federal court today. The commission is to consist of Frank S. Streeter, Concord; Dr. Morton Prince, Boston; Dr. George A. Blumer, Providence, R. I., and Dr. Charles P. Bancroft, Concord.

In the rescript, which is on Thaw's application for admission to bail under the habeas corpus proceedings, Judge Aldrich says:

"The commission is not appointed for the purpose of listening to experts upon an adversary hearing, but for making such observations and examinations as it sees fit as to Thaw's present condition, and whether he is insane or not; its opinion is sought upon the single and sole question whether it is reasonably probable that his liberty under bail would be dangerous to the public peace and safety."

The rescript adds that it is not intended that there should be a broad trial upon the general question of insanity because it is not the purpose to embarrass any subsequent litigation where that question might be involved.

"The theory of the New York courts being that Thaw's custody at Matteawan was not as punishment for crime, but for recovery of harmless or non-dangerous mental poise, and that the question of recovery is one which is to be treated as always open, the answer to the question of mental poise in respect to public danger is the only one upon which the opinion of the commission is sought," says the rescript.

It will be open to the commission to give interested parties an opportunity to offer evidence in respect to acts, if any, since Thaw's committal to Matteawan tending to show personal violence.

When the report of the commission is presented the parties may have leave to be heard further on the question of bail.

The clerk of the court issued the full printed record of the petition of Thaw for a writ of habeas corpus. It makes a volume of 177 large pages and covers the proceedings in the case from September 15 to date. Counsel for Thaw have forty days from the appearance of this record in which to file their brief, and Judge Aldrich has agreed to extend that limit if it is found necessary. After that William T. Jerome, for the state of New York, will have a similar time in which to reply.

TRACED FAMILY MULE FROM WALTON COUNTY

And as Buggy Was Hitched to It, They Got That, Too.

Talk about your bloodhound stories! Here's one—a true one—that's got all other yarns beat, as far as Wilson beat Chafin—therefore, considerable distance, as you, and even Chafin, will admit.

It's about two human bloodhounds who tracked a mule and buggy all the way from Bethlehem to Atlanta. Having accomplished this, they trailed the fugitive steed and vehicle over the paved streets of Atlanta and to a livery stable down on South Pryor street, where both had been sold for a mere pittance.

Bethlehem is down in Walton county, a large number of miles from here. Farmers J. R. and G. W. Edwards awoke on their jointly-maintained plantation some few miles out of Bethlehem at sunrise Wednesday morning and went out in the barn to feed the stock.

The mule—the family mule that was used for family transportation purposes—was missing, and so was a brand-new, rubber-tired buggy worth $100 or more. The Messrs. Edwards, who are brothers, hitched up their fastest horse to another buggy and started on the trail of the missing outfit.

They kept up with the buggy and mule tracks for 10 miles, then came to the conclusion that the fugitives had enough time to outdistance them beyond capture via the speed of a mere buggy, so they chartered an automobile. In the automobile they tracked the mule and buggy to Decatur, through Decatur and to Atlanta.

It was impossible to do effective tracking on the paved streets, so the two men asked questions of everybody along DeKalb avenue and Decatur street. From policemen, street car men, residents, storekeepers, pedestrians, street sweepers, automobilists—every type of citizen available—they learned the route of the fleeing mule and buggy.

It led to the livery stable of C. E. Thomas, at 37 South Pryor street. There they found the mule and buggy, the buggy spattered with mud, and the mule quite contented with a stall and mess of hay. The team, it was said, had been sold by two youngsters for $60. The livery stable operator described the boys who had sold it.

Later, Messrs. Edwards started on a search for the miscreants. They found them at Pryor and Decatur streets, Louis Edwards, aged 19, their brother, and Sillman Casper, aged 15, a neighbor's son, both of whom are said to have confessed. The two boys were carried by their captors to police headquarters, and this morning they will return home.

TOO MUCH AUTO LIGHT RESULTED IN PENALTY

New York, December 17.—Many motorists have been fined here for failing to provide their cars with lights, but the first penalty for carrying too much light was imposed by a police magistrate today. Clifford Schaufele, the owner of the car, was fined $10 under a new law which forbids motorists to show lights so bright as to dazzle traffic. To determine whether Schaufele's lamps violated the law the magistrate held court last night on a street corner and had the defendant drive past.

Another magistrate held court on a street corner today, tested the police method of timing motorists from a station post by stop watch and found it inaccurate. By this method the policeman starts his watch when the car crosses the center line of the street corner a block away and stops it when the car passes the corner where the timer has taken his stand, and from this data estimates the speed per mile.

After making the test the magistrate discharged an automobilist arrested for exceeding the speed limit. If the decision stands the timing of automobilists suspected of speeding will be left to cycle policemen, who follow cars and take the speed from speedometers.

For Violating Quarantine.

Rome, Ga., December 17.—(Special.) For alleged violation of the cattle quarantine W. L. Bowen, of Walker county, was yesterday bound over by United States Commissioner J. C. Printup, in the sum of $200 to appear before the May term of federal court. W. H. Clarkston was dismissed on a similar count. W. K. Lewis, of Atlanta, an agent of the United States department of agriculture, made the cases against the two men. He charged that they had shipped cattle from Alabama into Georgia without first having them dipped to prevent the spread of the cattle tick.

BLACKSMITH PREYED ON THE PICKPOCKETS

New York, December 17.—According to police officials of this city, Herman Amos, an east side blacksmith, is the inventor of a new method of blackmailing pickpockets and others not anxious to come in contact with the police. Since last September Amos has caused the arrest of three men on the charge that they had robbed him. Though able to identify the men at the time of their arrest, Amos, the police allege, refused to do so when the grand jury needed his testimony. He claimed he had made a mistake.

Amos was arrested today on a charge of compounding a felony and is held in $5,000 bail. He was to appear against Alexander Fine, charged with holding up Abraham Beloff, but told one of the prisoner's friends two days ago, it is charged, that he would fail to identify the man if paid $685. Fine's friend informed the police and, by means of marked twenty-dollar bills, the arrest of Amos was made possible.

GIVEN UP FOR LOST, THIRTY SAILORS SAVED

San Francisco, December 17.—Given up for lost, the crew of the dismasted and abandoned steel ship Dalgonar, owned in London, are on their way to Dover aboard the French ship Loire, which picked them up October 9, a thousand miles off the coast of Chile. Captain J. Ibester and three of his men are dead. How they perished the news that reached here today did not tell.

First word of the loss of the Dalgonar, which carried a crew of about thirty, reached here on December 10, when the French bark Marie anchored. Captain Moricet, of the Marie, sighted the Dalgomar 1,200 miles off the coast of Chile on October 28, rolling her keel out of water with her rigging out and her mast gone. Two of the ship's small boats were gone. The others swung on the davits.

Now comes word that the Loire picked up the officers and crew and on December 9 spoke to some unknown steamship which flashed the news of the rescue broadcast.

PENNSYLVANIA ROAD OPENS THREE OFFICES

They spent the day in visiting the various railroad offices about the city and in arranging for the enlargement of the Atlanta offices representing their organization. Arrangements were made for the opening of offices on the seventh floor of the Third National bank building, which will be occupied after January 1. Six men will be employed there.

John T. Wray, who has hitherto represented these interests in Atlanta, will continue in charge of the Atlanta office. In addition to the Atlanta office, however, offices will be opened at Charlotte, N. C., and Jacksonville, Fla. The three offices will form the territory under the charge of Walter Franklin, Jr., former special freight agent at Pittsburg, who will make his headquarters in Atlanta.

GOVERNOR THREATENED BY THE TRADE UNIONS

Denver, Colo., December 17.—Governor E. M. Ammons today was given five days within which to recall the state troops from the strike zone, in Colorado, dismiss Adjutant General Chase from command of the state military department and to deliver all military prisoners over to civil authorities, under penalty of the circulation of a petition of recall.

This demand was the principal act of the convention of allied trade unions and was issued in the form of a resolution introduced by the resolutions committee, and was adopted unanimously by the delegates.

The governor intimated tonight that he would give no heed to the resolution and did not fear the consequences of his executive actions.

DISABLED VERMONT NEARING CAPE HENRY

Norfolk, Va., December 17.—Rear Admiral Usher, commanding the Norfolk navy yard, received a wirless tonight from the battleship Vermont, now being towed up the coast by the battleship Delaware, announcing that the ship would probably reach Cape Henry early Friday morning.

The message stated that everything was all right on board and that barring unfavorable weather the ship would be off Cape Henry Friday morning. Tugs from the Norfolk navy yard will probably be sent to sea tomorrow to meet the disabled ship.

Washington, December 17.—Increases averaging 12 cents a hundred pounds in freight rates on wrapping paper and pulp wood, in carloads, from Mississippi shipping points to Baltimore, Philadelphia and other eastern destinations today were suspended by the interstate commerce commission until April 17, pending investigation.

RAILWAY ADVERTISING FAVORED BY ELLIOTT

Boston, December 17.—Howard Elliott, chairman of the New Haven railroad, was questioned by the public service commission today regarding certain payments made by the railroad company in Massachusetts for publicity and advertising.

Regarding advertising, Chairman Elliott said:

"I think a railroad ought to advertise and do all it can to present to the public its service as well as all the economic difficulties that surround a large railway corporation. Many persons are staying awake at nights to present the other side and much misinformation is in circulation. If the roads are to be saved it will be when the public has knowledge of the real facts."

When asked by Commissioner Anderson how much an editorial unsigned and purporting to be independently inspired should cost a railroad, Mr. Elliott declared with emphasis that such "advertising" should not exist.

THEY CAN'T GET MONEY FROM THE GOVERNMENT

New York, December 17.—Since 1878, when two thousand employees at the Brooklyn navy yard worked two hours overtime each working day for four years on a promise of extra pay, annual meetings of the men, their widows, children or their heirs have been held to discuss means for collecting the claims varying in each instance from $300 to $1,000.

There were originally 2,000 claimants. At yesterday's meeting only fifty attended, mainly old widowed women. Although these claims have been approved by the United States court of claims and twice indorsed by the senate, the house has failed to take action in them.

The latest move of the claimants is an appeal addressed to Secretary Daniels, of the navy department, urging him to call the attention of President Wilson to the validity of the claims that action on them may be pushed in the house.

EAT LESS AND TAKE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

ANOTHER JUDGE SHIES AT HEARING BILBO CASE

Legal Tangle Halting Trial of Accused Lieutenant Governor of Mississippi.

Vicksburg, Miss., December 17.—The maze of legal complications involved in the trial of G. A. Hobbs, state senator, indicted with Lieutenant Governor Theodore Bilbo on the charge of soliciting and accepting bribes, were further entangled late today when A. W. Shands, appointed special judge by Governor Earl Brewer, took the bench and announced that he was not legally qualified to serve as a successor to Judge Henry C. Mounger, who had recused himself. The trial went over until tomorrow.

The announcement was a surprise to the attorneys both for the prosecution and defense and the large number of spectators crowded into the courtroom expecting the trial to proceed. After expressing his opinion, Mr. Shands called upon Judge Mounger to relieve him, descended from the bench and departed for his home in Sardis, Miss.

Judge Mounger had recused himself because of his opinion that the trial would extend over his term as judge, which expires with the present month. The defense filed a bill of exceptions to the action of Judge Mounger and objected to Mr. Shands presiding. When Judge Mounger resumed the bench the prosecution announced its readiness, but J. W. Cassidy, for the defense, in view of the recusation, questioned the judge's right to proceed. Exception was taken.

Judge Mounger, however, received from the sheriff a report of service upon witnesses, ordered writs of attachment and $100 fines for those absent, and at a late hour adjourned court until tomorrow.

In the brief time he was on the bench, Mr. Shands said that it was his opinion that a trial judge did not have the right to recuse himself under the statutes which provide that a judge must be either incapacitated or incompetent, and that Judge Mounger was neither. Holding this opinion, Mr. Shands said the appointment of a special judge was illegal, therefore he was not legally qualified to serve.

Judge Mounger said later that he had no other course to pursue than to continue the trial until the expiration of his commission, December 31. If the trial extends beyond that date, this contingency will be taken care of at that time.

Governor Brewer would make no statement tonight upon the refusal of Mr. Shands to serve.

Committee to Probe Bilbo.

Vicksburg, Miss., December 17.—The state legislative investigating committee, brought into being through the efforts of Governor Earl Brewer to investigate alleged irregularities in state institutions, announced through A. C. Anderson, chairman, late tonight, that affairs in the chief executive's office would be looked into tomorrow. The official affairs of Theodore Bilbo, lieutenant governor, recently indicted with G. A. Hobbs, state senator, on charges of soliciting and accepting bribes, will also be investigated. The governor has been summoned as a witness in the trials of Hobbs and Bilbo.

It was reported that the committee would take cognizance of multitudious cards, statements, charges and counter-charges that have appeared in newspapers of this state within the past six months. The committee's accountant will go to Jackson tomorrow and begin checking over the financial records of the executive office.

The committee arrived here tonight from Clarkedale, where the affairs of two levee boards were investigated. With Chairman Anderson were S. J. Owen, W. A. Ellis, W. L. Evans and D. C. Bramlette.

FINAL FIGHT FOR LIVES OF THE FOUR GUNMEN

Albany, N. Y., December 17.—Arguments on the appeal of the four gunmen convicted of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the New York gambler, began today before the state court of appeals. The appeal was similar to that already made in the case of former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, also convicted of being implicated in the murder.

It was asserted that the presence of three of the gunmen, "Whitey" Lewis, "Gyp the Blood" and "Lefty Louie" near the scene of the shooting was due solely to an arrangement they had to meet Jack Rose to discuss the arrest of Zelig, another gunman. While they were engaged in conversation it was set forth the fatal shot was fired.

Counsel for the convicted men assailed the haste with which the jury reached a verdict, declaring that the men were found guilty in less than an hour, although seven days had been consumed in taking testimony. The use of the term "gunmen" in the case by the prosecution was decried as tending to prejudice the jury against the defendants. It was also asserted that Justice Goff erred in refusing to consider as an accomplice Sam Schepps, one of the principal witnesses against the accused.

Arguments had not been concluded when court adjourned tonight, and they will be resumed tomorrow.

GREENE-GAYNOR STOCK GIVEN TO GOVERNMENT

Lynchburg, Va., December 17.—Four hundred shares of Norfolk and Western stock and $18,700 in accumulated dividends were awarded to the government here today as part of its recoveries from the Gaynor and Greene harbor frauds at Savannah.

The stock belonged to B. D. Greene. When he fled to Canada he hypothecated it for the benefit of his bondsman. His widow petitioned for possession of the securities as his administratrix but the court today directed the railway company to re-issue the stock and pay the dividends under direction of the attorney general.

NO SALOON LUNCHES; 18,000 COOKS ARE IDLE

Chicago, December 17.—Only one of the more than 7,000 saloonkeepers in Chicago appeared in defense of the saloon free lunch when it was put on trial before a special council committee today. Representatives of scores of others appeared to urge an ordinance abolishing lunches in saloons. Saloonkeepers and reformers joined hands in favoring the proposed ordinance. It was asserted that the lunches put 18,000 cooks and waiters out of work in the city.

ONLY LACK $45,000 FOR OGLETHORPE FUND

Over $6,000 Given Wednesday—Syrian Gives $50. Ends Saturday.

Wednesday was a banner day for the Oglethorpe campaigners—$6,000.50 was reported at the luncheon, and the $250,000 fund which Atlanta is going to raise now lacks only $45,000 of completion.

The young men's committees, which have been working for three weeks past, propose to average over $5,000 a day for the remaining three days of this week, and reduce the amount still to be raised to about $25,000 by Saturday noon.

It is hoped and believed that by a final Herculean effort the remaining $25,000 can be added in large subscriptions before Saturday night. In this event the total $250,000 subscription will be announced in the Sunday morning papers.

Captain J. W. English, chairman of the executive committee, and Ivan E. Allen, chairman of the active working committees, are both confident that success is in sight. They have joined in urging all who have been waiting until the campaign moved toward its close to come in with their subscriptions now.

The luncheon Wednesday was even more enthusiastic than its predecessors. Many surprises were sprung. Dr. King's committee, which is now leading everything except the central committee, reported $1,850. The central committee reported $2,105. Of this latter sum $1,000 was from "The Constitution," and $1,000 from "a friend."

Committee Chairman Joel Hunter, who has been working among the schools of Atlanta, reported that the Boys' High school subscription of $700 has now reached $722.50. Mr. Hunter also reported $275 in new subscriptions from the Tech high school.

L. P. Bottenfield's committee reported $953 for the day's work. One of the most interesting announcements of the day came from the Bottenfield committee. One of the members made the acquaintance of Mike George, a Syrian, and an adopted citizen of Atlanta. Mr. George is a member of George Brothers, merchants. No native born son of Atlanta could have been more enthusiastic in his commendation of the Oglethorpe movement than was George. He has no children of his own, and has no selfish interest that could connect him with the university movement, yet he dug down in his pocket and subscribed $50, and along with it declared that there were dozens more Syrians in Atlanta who would be glad to support such an educational enterprise, and that he would be glad to drop his own work and go out with the committeemen and try to raise several hundred dollars among his countrymen.

The total list of new subscriptions reported yesterday was as follows:

JOHN A. BRICE'S COMMITTEE: Reuben R. Arnold, $100; Mell R. Wilkinson, $100; Roy Wood, $5. Total, $205.

A. W. FARLINGER'S COMMITTEE: "Out of city," $10; French Dry Cleaning company, $25; I. N. Ragsdale, $100. Total, $135.

JOEL HUNTER'S COMMITTEE: Charles N. Jackson, $100; Boys' High School, $22.50 additional (making its total $722.50); Tech High school, reported so far, $275. Total, $397.50.

C. D. MONTGOMERY'S COMMITTEE: A. D. Thompson, $25; J. C. Carlisle, $25; Atlanta Mineral Water company, $50. Total, $100.

AT THE THEATERS

"The Girl of My Dreams."

(At the Atlanta.)

The delightful musical play bearing the pleasing title of "The Girl of My Dreams" will be seen here at the Atlanta tonight, Friday and Saturday with matinee Saturday. The book is by Wilbur D. Nesbit and Otto Hauerbach. The former is a well-known Chicago newspaper writer at present connected with The Evening Post of that city. The late Karl Hoschna is the composer of the music.

The new piece is described as an atmospheric musical play in two acts. The dialogue is said to be bright and the comedy situations unusually funny and of a decided farcical character. The story has to do almost entirely with young people, there being only three elderly characters in it. There is a Quaker atmosphere that permeates throughout, showing itself in both costume and speech.

A splendid company of principals, a singing and dancing chorus and a special orchestra is coming.

"The Quaker Girl."

(At the Atlanta.)

The seat sale for the engagement of "The Quaker Girl" at the Atlanta Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday opens at the theater box office this morning and will doubtless keep the lobby crowded for some time as the advent of this famous musical comedy has been long awaited. So widely have the praises of "The Quaker Girl" been sung that it is almost unnecessary to say much about its history and its merits in general. This piece has enjoyed runs in London, Paris and New York, and has been everywhere an overwhelming success. The company which is coming to the Atlanta is headed by Victor Morley.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Florenze Tempest, styled "The American Boy," and one of the cleverest little women who ever visited the Forsyth, is recording a big success this week at that popular house of amusement. Her opening number is an impersonation of the male character, and she then changes to some pretty costumes for some good singing and an exhibition of the latest dancing, in which she is assisted by Herbert Hoffman, with Henry Wilson at the piano. Edwin Stevens and company have a good comedy called "The Troubles of R. and J." Neil McKinley entertains with some talk and stories, and the remaining acts help to make up a good bill.

Next week "Sergeant Bagby," a delightful playlet telling a story of love and interest, will headline, and six other good selections will be the offering.

"Happy Hooligan."

(At the Lyric).

A new book has been devised and a production equal to anything offered hereabouts in many seasons may be expected in "Happy Hooligan" at the Lyric next week. In this piece an entirely new and original key-note in farce comedy has been sounded. Laughter is gained by legitimate means with horse-play and other doubtful mirth-provoking expedients eliminated. The action is spirited and every act is punctuated with refreshing and wholesome humor. There is a plausible plot, jingling and euphonious music, unusual stage pictures and features out of the common run.

Emma Bunting.

(At the Lyric.)

Miss Bunting is receiving a tremendous welcome back to Atlanta, which she says feels like "home" to her. This clever and attractive little artist is meeting all her friends this week in a delightfully social manner, outside of her engagement at the Lyric, where she is starring in "The Girl From Out Yonder." The play is one of keen interest, heart throbs and final happiness. It is a play that every class of theatergoer likes, and with little Emma Bunting in the leading role, wearing a sou'wester, rubber boots and rubber hat, she is wonderful. Matinee today and Saturday, and daily night performances will conclude the week's engagement.

Jewell Kelley Stock Co.

(At the Bijou.)

One of the most intensely dramatic performances of the stock season is being given this week at the Bijou by the Jewell Kelley company, in the western border drama, "The Denver Express." Elaborate preparations are going on for the Christmas play that will be put on next week by the Jewell Kelley company. It is Hal Reid's drama of New York life entitled "A Midnight Marriage," telling a story of the trials and tribulations of a music hall singer in the big city. It is brimful of sensational effects, tells a story that holds the attention of an audience from start to finish, and should prove one of the most pleasing and entertaining of the company's repertoire and a big winner for the holiday week. Ladies will be admitted free on Monday night when accompanied by an escort holding a paid 30-cent ticket, purchased before 6 o'clock.

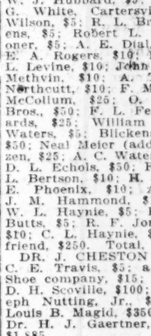

Best Lump Coal $4.75.
"Piedmont Coal Co., 1023."

HEADWAY BEING MADE BY ECUADOR REBELS

Washington, December 17.—News of the capture by revolutionists of the important sea coast town of Esmeraldas, in northwestern Ecuador, leads officials here to believe the government of President Plaza may be severely taxed to maintain itself in that section of the country, although, owing to geographical conditions, it may be well nigh impossible for the rebels to follow up their success at Esmeraldas by a march to the capital.

The present revolutionary movement is understood to be purely personal and a continuation of the Alfaro revolution of 1912. In August of that year General Alfaro, who had been president of Ecuador and was in exile at Panama, returned to head a revolution by General Pedro Montero, then in command of the government garrison at Guayaquil. The revolution lasted six weeks when Montero was captured at Guayaquil and six of his generals, including Alfaro, were killed and burned by a mob in Quito.

General Concho was one of the few survivors of the rebel army. He escaped into the north and has been ever since fighting the government in the wild mountain and jungle country. It is understood that he is receiving considerable financial support and many recruits from the coast towns whose inhabitants are said to be opposed to President Plaza's government because of the long standing jealousy between the people of the lowlands and the sierras.

WINDS OF ALASKA TO BE HARNESSED TO AID RELIGION

Philadelphia, December 17.—The winds that blow in northern Alaska are to be harnessed to light up the long polar night in the cause of religion. To this end announcement was made today that the Rt. Rev. P. T. Rowe, bishop of the diocese of Alaska, has authorized Dr. W. E. S. Temple, head of the electrical engineering department of the University of Pennsylvania, to design and build an electric light plant, operated by a wind mill for use of the episcopal mission at Point Hope, Alaska. Point Hope is more than 100 miles north of the arctic circle where the polar night continues several months a year.

Bishop Rowe, on a recent visit to Philadelphia, said that the wind velocity at Point Hope is rarely below 20 miles an hour and that it averages approximately 25 miles. The temperature during the winter months ranges from 35 to 55 degrees below zero. The idea of installing such a plant at the mission, where there are 400 inhabitants, originated, it is said, with the Rev. A. R. Hoare, who is in charge of the mission.

WHY M'COMBS REFUSED TO TAKE PARIS POST

New York, December 17.—William F. McCombs, chairman of the democratic national committee, gave his reasons today for declining appointment as ambassador to France.

"The post entails the expenditure of about $150,000 a year," he said. "It pays $17,500. I could not afford to accept it. I am going back to the practice of law, and I hope to make some money."

Mr. McCombs testified today as an expert in a suit brought by Judge LaFetra against the city to recover $10,000 fees for services in revising the building code. He said he expected to go to Washington tomorrow to attend the dinner to be given by President Wilson to the diplomatic corps.

NOBEL PRIZE IN 1914 FOR THOMAS HARDY

PARCEL POST RECORD BY CHICAGO OFFICE

Chicago, December 17.—Since the Christmas rush of business began here last Saturday a new record has been established in the Chicago postoffice by the handling of an average of 215 tons of parcel post matter a day. Another local record was established the first ten days of December when $3,000,000 worth of stamps were sold. An average of 8,000,000 parcel post packages are being handled monthly by the Chicago office as compared with 3,000,000 last January. Five motor trucks, the first ever used by the Chicago postoffice, were pressed into service yesterday to hasten the delivery of Christmas mail and forestall congestion.

CALMORE CONSECRATED PORTO RICO BISHOP

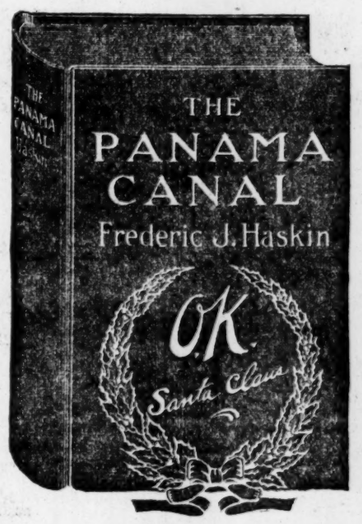

Nashville, Tenn., December 17.—The Very Rev. Charles Blayney Colmore, former dean of Holy Trinity cathedral, Havana, Cuba, was consecrated bishop of Porto Rico and Hayti this morning in All Saints' chapel of the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn. The consecration service was participated in by the following bishops of the Episcopal church:

Rt. Rev. Daniel Sylvester Tuttle, bishop of Missouri; Rt. Rev. William Alexander Guerry, bishop of South Carolina; Rt. Rev. Thomas Frank Gailor, bishop of Tennessee; Rt. Rev. Albion Williamson Knight, bishop of Cuba, and Rt. Rev. Edwin G. Wood, bishop of Florida.

THAT CHRISTMAS PRESENT LIST!

Have you finished it? You have all the names down, of course. That's easy. But what have you opposite each of them? What presents have you selected? How will you be able to get something appropriate, something nice, something that will be appreciated, and at the same time make your appropriation stretch over so many names? That's your problem, isn't it?
Well, here's the answer.
Opposite the name of every person between the ages of nine and ninety set down "The Panama Canal." It's that interesting book about Uncle Sam's mightiest undertaking. It's safe to select this particular volume because it has the O. K. of Colonel Goethals, the man who so successfully "bossed" the job.
Every American will be proud to have in his library this authoritative book on the most gigantic engineering achievement in the history of the world.

FINANCIAL SCANDAL IN THE CANAL ZONE

Alleged That Commissary Manager Burke Has Been Engaged in Grafting.

Washington, December 17.—Secretary Garrison today asked Attorney General McReynolds to rule on the question whether John Burke, manager of the Panama railway commissary department, whose transactions are under investigation, is a government employee or the employee of a private corporation.

Upon the attorney general's opinion will depend the action of the government at the conclusion of an inquiry into charges that Burke has profited by receiving gifts or commissions from persons selling supplies to the canal commissary department. Officials said tonight that nothing in this investigation thus far had indicated any loss to the government.

May Not be Federal Employee.

If Burke is a government employee the government might proceed against him criminally, otherwise the only recourse of the government would be to proceed civilly to recover for the Panama railroad any money Burke received unlawfully.

The department of justice already has ruled that Panama railroad employees are not in the government employ. Attorney General Wickersham held this in an opinion deciding that employees were not entitled to be brought under the regulation which establishes an eight-hour working day in all departments of the government. It was pointed out that the Panama railroad is a private corporation, chartered under the laws of New York, although the United States holds the majority of the stock, and Colonel Goethals, chairman of the Isthmian canal commission is president with other government officials constituting the directorate.

War department officials, including officers of the Panama canal commission in Washington, today expressed deep regret that any one in the canal zone should be connected with a financial scandal. They pointed out that millions had been disbursed and the great waterway had been almost completed without a breath of financial irregularity.

It is admitted that for the last six months the inquiry has been in progress based upon charges preferred by Charles R. Walker, a former subordinate of Burke's in the commissary department, alleging that his superior officer was demanding and receiving large commissions from persons with whom he had placed large contracts for food and other supplies for the canal workers. Also it was alleged that Burke had awarded contracts to the Colon Import and Export company in which he was a stockholder and that he had profited at least $50,000 from his operations. His salary was $4,500 a year. Several important contracts were placed in Europe.

Burke's work as commissary was done entirely from the Isthmus and it was explained at the war department that his operations were not directed from the canal commission offices here nor in connection with the quartermaster's department of the army. His purchases are believed to have totalled somewhere between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 during the period covered by the investigation. The one fact upon which all the officials agreed today was that if any one had lost money by the operations of Burke the government was not the loser.

Burke's Accounts Approved.

New York, December 17.—Officers of the Panama Railroad company said today that they knew only by hearsay of the charges against John Burke.

"Mr. Burke's accounts were approved by Colonel Eugene L. Wilson, head of the subsistence department of the isthmian canal commission," said Sylvester Deming, treasurer of the road. "In due course of routine we received these accounts here for auditing, but had no other relations with Mr. Burke. I do not think, however, that his expenditures have been as much as $6,000,000.

"Some time ago we heard in a roundabout way that charges had been made against Mr. Burke. We heard nothing further of them."

Burke is about 45 years old and was formerly a resident of Indianapolis. The railroad officials do not know where he is spending his vacation.

Burke Makes Denial.

Indianapolis, Ind., December 17.—John Burke here this afternoon denied he had ever received money from any source other than his salary while connected with the Panama commissary department.

"There is not a word of truth in any charge that I have profited financially 'on the side' in connection with my work in the canal zone," declared Mr. Burke. "Complaint against me arose last September on account of information given out by a disgruntled employee. The complaint was that the department had made purchases abroad. I never made answer to the complaint for it was the policy of the department to purchase supplies wherever they could be had the cheapest.

"The charge that I have made money out of my position is new to me. It would be impossible, as I am not in full charge of the commissary department. I have to make detailed reports to my superior officer."

Mr. Burke said supplies amounting to about $8,000,000 were purchased annually by the department.

TRADE BOARD FOR BUTTS

Organization to Be Perfected at Meeting January 6.

Jackson, Ga., December 17.—(Special.)—After hearing addresses by various members of the organization force of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, at a mass meeting held at the Butts county courthouse in Jackson Tuesday morning, on the benefits and best formation of a modern county chamber of commerce, a large number of citizens of that county unanimously adopted the constitution recommended by the state association and expressed their determination to give their county the best commercial organization possible. At a meeting to be held at the courthouse in Jackson Tuesday, January 6, 1914, at noon, citizens from every part of the county, including Jackson, Flovilla, Jenkinsburg, Indian Springs and other places, will perfect the organization by the election of officers and the outlining for a plan of work which will develop the county, particularly in an agricultural way. The new organization will be affiliated with the Georgia Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting Tuesday was presided over by F. S. Etheridgem, president of the temporary Butts County Chamber of Commerce, which was formed on Georgia Products day at Jackson November 18. Representing the organization force of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce were A. W. McKeand, head of the organization force of that association; C. G. Bradley, its statistician and B. M. Lee, one of its field representatives.

After the committee on examination of the proposed constitution had made a report that it be adopted, several citizens of Butts county made short talks. C. J. Smith, who is much interested in the raising of livestock, demonstrated the needs of good markets for all farm prelucts. The success of the farmers' union of Butts county was brought out by one of its members, S. J. Mays, and the advantages of a county organization as he saw them were told by J. M. McMichael. Favorable remarks on the new organization were made by H. M. Shaver, editor of The Jackson Argos, and J. D. Jones, editor of The Jackson Progress, who acted as secretary of the meeting.

Members of the organization force of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce will be in Social Circle and Monroe Thursday to arrange for the organization of the Walton County Chamber of Commerce. This meeting will be held in McDonroe at the courthouse Friday, at 10 a. m.

3 WHISKY RAIDS MADE BY MACON'S NEW CHIEF

Begins Making Promise Good Before Being in Office Six Hours.

Macon, Ga., December 17.—(Special.) Macon's new chief of police had not been in office six hours before he began to make good on his promise to stop the sale of whisky. At 4 o'clock this afternoon the chief and several of his men began their raids, and at the first place visited, that of Hugh Devlin, Bay street and Broadway, three drayloads of whisky were confiscated, and the manager and clerk arrested. There were 24 barrels of whisky in the lot secured from Devlin's place.

At C. E. Randall's saloon, on Poplar street, one thousand bottles of whisky were found, and at B. B. Brannan's saloon enough "wet goods" were found to fill a two-horse dray.

Several other places were visited, but no whisky was found. At Pete Worthy's place the police were denied admission until they had secured search warrants. Nothing was found there.

"I hate to do it, boys, but it is my duty," the new chief told each saloon man.

REDDEN MAKES TALK TO MAXWELL DEALERS

C. F. Redden, general sales manager of the Maxwell Motor company, addressed a meeting of Georgia automobile dealers at luncheon yesterday at the Piedmont.

The gathering was a very successful one. The dealers were enthusiastic over the new Maxwell lines for 1914, especially the small car, which has caused so much talk all over this country. C. H. Booth, southern district manager, was one of the most enthusiastic of the men present.

Mr. Redden's address was well received by the dealers and, characteristic of the man himself, was full of vim and ginger.

C. H. BOOTH.

The strides made by the Maxwell company during the past year have been something wonderful, and Mr. Redden, in his talk, paid a high tribute to Walter E. Flanders, the master-mind behind the great Maxwell organization.

Mr. Redden left the city Wednesday night for a trip through other southern states now under the Atlanta branch. Mr. Booth, southern district manager, will accompany Mr. Redden on his trip over the territory.

MINISTER OF ROME SENTENCED TO GANG TO SERVE 6 MONTHS

Rome, Ga., December 17.—(Special.)—"I wish I could say to you like the Bible of old, 'Go and sin no more,' but it is my duty to give you a severe sentence, and you must serve six months on the chaingang without the alternative of a fine," said Judge John H. Reece, in Floyd city court today, in passing sentence upon the Rev. James A. Thacker, Congregational Methodist minister found guilty yesterday of improper conduct with Miss Emma Hughes, a pretty young woman, twenty-five years old, who came here recently from Cincinnati.

Thacker received the verdict without emotion, and was taken to jail, where he will remain until he can give $300 bond, pending the hearing of a motion for a new trial, which his attorneys filed today.

NEGRO THIEF SLAIN GIVING BATTLE TO SHERIFF'S POSSE

Lula, Ga., December 17.—(Special.) The dry goods store of H. W. Gowder, of this place, was robbed last night by negroes, who, when overtaken by the sheriff and posse near Ayersville, Ga., this afternoon showed fight. One of them was killed and one got away, but seemed to be wounded. They had just left the express office, where they had expressed two or three suit cases of dry goods to Asheville, N. C., when the sheriff and posse reached Ayersville in an automobile from Toccoa, Ga.

Washington, December 17.—The senate today passed a joint resolution expressing regret over the death of the Panama canal engineer, Lieutenant-Colonel David DuBose Gaillard, and authorizing the payment of an additional year's salary to his widow. Decatur Likes Autoists, But They Must Be Good

The automobile germ is as welcome in Decatur, Ga., as any other germ of wealth and progress. The automobilist who adheres to the law and fails to violate the state and city statutes is a man very muchly desired in this thriving and prosperous suburb of which Atlanta is justly proud.

This much is contained in a letter to The Constitution from Robert W. Ramspeck, secretary of the Decatur Board of Trade, which organization, since its inauguration, has let folks know all the way from Scandinavia to the most desolate spot of Chili that there is such a place as Decatur and that it's "considerable" place at that.

Georgia Laws, Not Decatur's.

In reference to the trial of R. P. Boyce, whose automobile was held to have exceeded 6 miles an hour at a curve and street intersection, which performance was against the state statutes, Mr. Ramspeck writes that it was no fault of anybody in Decatur that the state has made it against the law for a man to drive his automobile in any such manner, but that the state had done it.

But, listen! Decatur's board of trade takes a very subtle way of roasting Atlanta—think of it, and reiterates the well-spread information that Atlanta's police make more arrests than any city in the south, which indicates—it must be said—that there are numerous varied and sundry law violators in our midst.

And From Atlanta, Too!

Secretary Ramspeck, in this regard, writes:

"Decatur is probably as law-abiding a community as can be found in the country. We practically had no use for an arresting officer, and certainly it is not in order for comment on law enforcement to emanate from such a source as Atlanta, whose police records show more arrests by far in proportion to size than New York."

And, further, the secretary adds that Mr. Boyce, the automobilist from Lawrenceville, was violating a state law and not an ordinance made by the Decatur council, and that the said Mr. Boyce was tried before the DeKalb superior court fairly, squarely and legitimately. He also adds that the city of Decatur had nothing whatever to do with the case, no more than the arrest of the defendant and the binding of him over to the superior court, which was done by the mayor of the town.

NO INHERITANCE TAX COLLECTED IN STATE

Comptroller General Wright Serves Notice on Ordinaries Throughout State.

Not one cent of the inheritance tax money has found its way into the state treasury, according to the announcement made Wednesday, despite the fact that the inheritance tax law passed by the recent general assembly has been in force for the past four months. Every day estates are passing into the hands of heirs in every county of Georgia, but there are declared to have been no returns on this law.

Comptroller General William A. Wright has served notice on ordinaries and tax collectors that this new law must be observed and has also furnished them with copies of the statute. The enforcement of the law is left practically in the hands of the ordinaries, who are required to furnish the state with notices of the amount of taxes due from each estate.

The governor, through the attorney general and the solicitor general, can prosecute ordinaries who fail to comply with the new law. Section 7 of the new law provides that any failure to comply with the tax return shall be subject to a fine of $1,000.

It is hinted that already hundreds of executors of estates are now subject to prosecution under the provisions of the statute. One statehouse official Wednesday figured that Georgia has already lost about $33,000 through the failure or ordinaries to comply with the new law.

NEGRESS CREMATED WHEN CABIN BURNS

Milledgeville, Ga., December 17.—(Special.)—An aged colored woman, Aunt Cherry Mills, was burned to death this week when the little cabin she occupied was destroyed by fire. Aunt Cherry claimed to be 112 years old last July, and she lived alone in a one-room house in the western part of Baldwin. When the fire was discovered the house had collapsed and the old woman had been unable to get out. Her charred remains were taken from the ashes and buried by the people in the vicinity.

Objects to Rates.

Washington, December 17.—Discrimination in the making of freight rates to Greenwood, S. C., from all points in the east, north and west, was charged against the Seaboard Air Line railway and other southern railroads today by the Merchants' association of Greenwood, in a complaint filed with the interstate commerce commission. It is alleged that the rates to Greenwood are excessive and unreasonable, as compared with those to Atlanta, Augusta and other similarly located cities and demand is made that a parity of rates be put into effect.

JAGUARS AND BOARS HUNTED BY ROOSEVELT

Rio Janeiro, December 17.—Theodore Roosevelt and party on their arrival at Corumba were warmly received by the civic authorities and the people. The president of the municipality greeted Colonel Roosevelt, expressing to him the satisfaction of the people of Corumba at the honor of the visit.

Later the Roosevelt party left on a hunt in a nearby jungle. The colonel has been obliged to abandon his proposed visit to Cuyaba, but has accepted an invitation to join in a jaguar and wild boar hunt, for which preparations had been made. The president of Matto Grosso will join Colonel Roosevelt on December 21.

Prior to this departure for San Luis De Caceres the ex-president will make an inspection of the various industries and will then set out on his journey into the interior. All the members of the expedition are in the best of health.

MOTHER AND CHILDREN ARE BURNED TO DEATH

New York, December 17.—A mother and her two small children were burned to death and three other persons slightly injured in a fire which swept through an east side tenement house tonight. Twenty men, women and children who had been cut off from escape were carried out by firemen.

The dead are:

Mrs. Josephine Antigini, 39; Rosa Antigini, 5, and Adeline Antigini, 2 years old.

SEE PANAMA CANAL FOR ONLY FIFTY CENTS

A winter trip to Panama would be most pleasant, and several hundreds of fortunate Americans will spend their Christmas holidays in this manner.

But hundreds of thousands, millions, of stay-at-home Americans have paid their money for the construction of the canal and will eventually reap its benefits, but they cannot see it.

The best they can do will be to read about it in a book, and the best book in which to read about it is "The Panama Canal" by Frederic J. Haskin. It will prove a suitable Christmas gift for any American man or woman, boy or girl.

The Constitution is offering it to its readers for the bare cost of production. Save the coupon printed in another part of this issue.

UP THE HILL AND DOWN.

The effort of the republican national executive committee to harmonize the differences between the standpat and so-called "progressive" wings of the party does not give promise of substantial results.

The compromises and house-cleaning proposed by the old guard in control of the committee have met with open scoffings and incredulity from the "bull moose" contingent. It begins to appear that nothing short of the absolute dissolution of the old organization and the taking over of its functions by the "progressives" will satisfy the element that has the weight of numbers in its favor.

The national committee squarely disregarded the ruling of its legal committee to the effect that it possessed no power to change the basis of representation in the next national convention of the party without direction from a national convention. The committee has passed a resolution looking toward the proposed change, bringing it within the technical requirements of the situation by a shrewd if complicated device. It is tentatively provided that the state conventions preceding the regular quadrennial convention, and electing delegates to that gathering, are to ratify the resolution changing the basis of representation. Whether that arrangement will stand the fire of the party lawyers, or whether the state conventions themselves will co-operate in the plan, is a debatable point, and the weakness of the whole plan. The southern republicans are already up in arms because their proportionate representation is greatly reduced.

It is significant that upon every test vote of importance the "progressive" contingent overwhelmed the standpat crowd. If that development is a criterion it is obvious that the old republican party is gone beyond resurrection. If it lives under the same name it will be as a new party.

Of course the future of the republican party depends upon the ability of its leaders to harmonize the warring factions. It is by no means apparent that convincing progress has been made in that direction. The action of the committee has been greeted with outright repudiation by prominent republican "progressives" in congress, who brand the motive actuating the committee's program as hypocritical.

If these, therefore, were the means whereby wounds of the past were to be healed, it seems that the committee has marched up the hill only to come down again.

THE HIGHWAY SUPERVISOR.

In the appointment of Thomas P. Stanley as supervisor of highway construction in Georgia, the state prison commission has taken the first definite step toward an era of scientific uniformity in the building of roads in Georgia. The action of the commission is simply the vitalizing of its powers heretofore latent in the act creating the commission. Up to this time the commission had not felt justified in applying that optional part of the statute which empowered it to enter upon centralized road supervision. Now that the other important branches of the commission's work are thoroughly organized it is at liberty to release some of its energy toward the imperative task of standardizing the building of highways in Georgia.

From the standpoint of personal equipment the selection is an ideal one. Mr. Stanley is an engineer of fine training and varied experience. He is a graduate of the engineering department of the University of Georgia, has engaged extensively in railway construction, and for ten years was supervisor of road construction for Clarke county. Of recent years his ability as a builder of the sort of roads that stay put has become so widely recognized that much of his time has been demanded in a consulting capacity by surrounding counties.

The appointment is effective January 1. Beginning then, Mr. Stanley's services will be at the disposal of all those Georgia counties that desire to substitute method and permanence for makeshift in road-building. A number of counties already employ their own engineers. The majority feel themselves, justly or otherwise, unable to support the expense. To these, the aid of the state will come as a practical benefaction. Mr. Stanley will confer freely with the local authorities. He will determine the kind of material best suited to construction purposes for each county, blue-print roads and outline grades. In other words, the state of Georgia now places at the disposal of its counties the services of a high-class consulting engineer, who shall divide his time between them as dictated by necessity and fairness.

The Constitution feels a pardonable pride in the amplification of the functions of the commission, since this paper was the first in the state to direct attention to the law empowering such extension. In the last analysis the change effective with the new year means that Georgia is destined to become the banner good roads state in the union. We have the first great factor in convict labor. We have the aggressive public sentiment, molded largely by the successive crusades of The Constitution. With a great co-ordinating influence exerted under state authority the outcome is assured.

FOR GEORGIA'S ADVANCEMENT.

In Atlanta and Macon today will be launched simultaneous campaigns for emergency funds to be applied to the development work of the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce. The campaigns will extend through tomorrow, and it is expected the conclusion will show at least $12,500 subscribed to the $50,000 annual upkeep fund asked for by the men behind the movement.

The personnel of the Atlanta committee foreshadows the vigor with which the canvass will be conducted. The chairman is H. G. Hastings, and associated with him are St. Elmo Massengale, L. D. Hicks, Harris G. White and William F. Parkhurst. Many Atlanta corporations and Atlantans individually have taken sustaining memberships in the chamber of commerce. It is anticipated that the efforts of today and tomorrow will carry the work of revenue-raising into every part of business Atlanta.

It is needless for The Constitution to elaborate on the mission and the prospective functions of the state chamber of commerce. To use a concrete illustration, the state organization expects to do for Georgia in general what the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce has done, is doing and intends to do for Atlanta. The state chamber is to be a clearing house of effort, state-wide in its dimensions. It is to combine all the forces that are, in their individual communities, working for the uplift of Georgia, into a unified agency advancing the interests of the state at large.

As the financial and business capital of Georgia, Atlanta has a primary stake in the successful inauguration and maintenance of the chamber of commerce. In other states, notably the southwest and the far west, the chamber of commerce idea has been proved to be the harbinger of intensive development in agricultural, industrial and commercial channels. The same agency set at work in Georgia can accomplish the same results for Georgia. It can increase the streams of wealth that now flow into Atlanta from every part of the state by a total that may be with difficulty set into figures.

The Atlanta business man or corporation that buys a membership in the state chamber of commerce is making a gilt-edged investment. He is helping the general welfare, but he is most undoubtedly helping the cause of his own bank account. The amount asked, therefore, of Atlanta and of Macon, is not in the nature of a contribution, but of an investment, as sure of definite returns as is the fact two and two make four.

HELEN KELLER'S COMING.

To Atlantans who realize the triumphant human significance of the life and career of Helen Keller, her appearance here on Saturday evening of this week will be one of the events of the year. Miss Keller appears under the auspices and for the benefit of the Atlanta chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. The constructive and commemorative work in which these women are engaged should in itself make sufficient appeal to draw a large audience to the Auditorium.

Of the achievements of Miss Keller it is superfluous to speak in detail to those who have read newspapers and magazines for the past decade. From the days of her childhood until the present her life has been a continued and marvelous testimonial of the victory of will power and intelligence over inherited infirmity. Born deaf and blind, she might, like many others similarly circumstanced, have satisfied herself with that compromise with existence which under the conditions would have been the line of least resistance.

But the pall of darkness and the wall of silence had no power to thwart this woman of undaunted spirit. The pall has never lifted, and never will, and the wall is still there, and must remain. But she has brought an unconquerable will and a steady persistence to the quickening of her other senses, to the end that today she is among the most highly cultivated minds in the country, man or woman, mastering many languages, many sciences, above all grasping from the silence and the darkness the art of articulate speech so that she has become one of the notable figures on the American platform.

It is this embodied testimonial to the strength of the human will, and the marvels of human intelligence who is to appear before Atlantans Saturday evening. To be in the presence of such a woman is a privilege, not less than a heartening inspiration.

The Holiday Dollars.

I.

The song o' the Holiday Dollars
'Neath bright Christmas banners unfurled:

"It's up and away
At the bright break o' day—
We're racing away from the world!
To the beautiful, garlanded windows so bright,
They chase us, they race us from morning till night!"

II.

Talk o' the sun, in his splendor,
When he does just his bravest to shine,
Can he match the rare light
Of the dollars so bright—
The silvery dollars so fine?
After them, people of every glad place,
Don't let 'em distance the world in the race!

III.

And the dimes—they are following fleetly,
And child-voices blend with the chimes:
"The toy-men—they wait
At the Santa Claus gate;
Hurrah for the holiday dimes!"
The world's little citizens there, in the gleams;
The dimes and the dollars are reading their dreams!

Holiday News From Home.

"You'd better hurry up your Christmas shoppin' in Atlanty," wrote the Billville friend, to the absent one, "for things has gone contrary since you left—leastways, so it seems to me. The turkeys what you had for home consumin' has been stole, and you hain't got nary one left for Christmas dinner; also, the women temperance folks found out where you'd buried your Christmas jugs and smashed the last one o' 'em—all of which happened the day before your house ketched fire and burnt down. I tell you these things as a friend, hopin' you will now see why you ought to come home. P. S.: I disremembered to mention that your wife has gone to Washington, D. C., to make congress give women the votin' privilege. She joined the suffragettin' band as soon as you got out o' town, and she wants to run for sheriff or something."

Father's Day at Christmas.

They're killing him with kindness—there isn't any doubt,
And Father wants to stay here and see the Christmas out;
Each wish anticipated, they hover 'round his chair,
He's like a king, with subjects that rush to serve him there.

A constant watch they keep;
His pockets—they are deep,
And they're wanting dimes and dollars
In a bright, sunshiny heap!

It's "Father's Day" for certain! They come at beck and call
And cuddle and caress him, and—he understands it all;
But when the season's over he'll go the old-time way;
They'll leave him lonesome at his toil till comes next Christmas day.

But now close watch they keep;
There's Christmas joy to reap,
And for all the shiny dollars
They are loving him a heap!

The Man That Won't Grow Up.

Our singing brother, the Bentztown Bard, has this of the man whose heart beats young:

"The man who won't grow up, but stays
A great big youngster all his day
Is more the kind of man we need
Than all the men of blazoned deed
And haughty mien that walk the earth,
Because we catch his golden mirth
Just like we did the measles when
We hadn't ourselves grown up to men."

The Considerate Burglars.

(From The London Chronicle.)

According to a contemporary, a Paris beggar, seeing an old man about to give him a half-penny, showed his contempt for the gift by taking a silver coin from his own pocket and bestowing it on the alms-giver. Let us hope the recipient fared better than Paul Verlaine did under somewhat similar circumstances. One night the poet woke up to find a couple of burglars in his room. Shortly before he had been driven by poverty to sell every stick of furniture and was reduced to sleeping on a sack. His visitors were so touched by this evidence of dire poverty that they gave him a franc apiece and took their departure. "Unfortunately," Verlaine had to admit when he related the story, "both the coins were bad ones."

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON,
The Famous Prose Poet.

THE PERFECT NEIGHBOR.

"The man who lives next door to me," said the undertaker, "has more children than an orphan asylum, and they are driving me crazy. They make more noise than the zoological gardens, and their riot is at its worst just when I want to sleep. I went over and asked the man if he wouldn't administer an anaesthetic to his offsprings, or at least move into the country, where nobody would be annoyed, and he informed me that if I didn't attend to my own business he'd consider it a privilege as well as a duty to punch my head."

"That's the way with most people," commented the village patriarch. "You can't expect reasonable conduct on the part of neighbors. I don't believe the perfect neighbor has yet been introduced to society. We always are confronting that narrow, selfish view when we commune with our neighbors. All my days I have been pestered and aggravated by people living next door to me.

"There was a man named Kersmith who lived in the house just north of my place all one winter, and the injustice I suffered at his hands caused me to lose my faith in human nature. He persisted in using the cheapest grade of soft coal in his furnace and stoves. The wind blew from the north for weeks together, and the black, greasy smoke from his chimneys blew over onto my premises and covered everything with soot. I went to Kersmith and asked him in the most gentlemanly way to use hard coal, but he positively refused to do anything of the kind. He said that hard coal would cost $7 a ton more than the kind he was using, and he was a poor man and couldn't afford it.

"Selfish people always resort to sophistry when they can have no honest argument to offer. This man Kersmith might have economized in his household expenditures enough to enable him to buy hard coal, and thus please his neighbor, but he laughed and idea to scorn. Along towards spring the wind switched around and blew from the south for two or three weeks, and then I dug up all the old rags and cast-off overshoes I could find, and burned them, and the smoke that blew over to Kersmith's was so thick you could have cut it into squares with a handsaw. I am not a vindictive man, but I feel it a duty to rebuke such a man as Kersmith and he must have realized that the way of the transgressor is hard when he had inhaled that smoke for a fortnight.

"At the end of that time he hired a furniture van and moved away, and I understand he has spread reports to the effect that I am a bad neighbor, a hard man to get along with. When first I heard that report I was indignant, and said that the blame all belonged to Kersmith. But one day I got to thinking over the past, and I began to wonder whether I really was as good a neighbor as I had always believed myself to be. For many years I had been having trouble with one family or another, and I always took it for granted that the other people were fiends in human form, and I a stainless martyr; but the more I studied the matter over, the more I was forced to the conclusion that I had no reason to take the lecture platform as the perfect neighbor.

"When Twitterson lived next door to me I lost all patience with him because he put up a target in his back yard and shot at it by the hour with a rifle. The rattle of his artillery got on my nerves, and I voted him the worst neighbor I ever knew. He vexed me to such a degree that I wrote letters to the newspapers calling attention to his nefarious conduct, and asking what the police were doing. He had been gone from the neighborhood a long time before I heard why he left. At that period I was trying to learn to play a trombone, and he told his friends that the horrible din I produced was more than he could stand. He was a better sport than I, for instead of writing letters to the public prints, signing them 'Vox Populi,' he went to the trouble and expense of moving away. But this question of neighbors is complex and wearisome, so let us have a game of checkers."

THE BELIEVE INS.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

The Salt of this Earth are those who Believe In—YOU. Your life is strangely Important, you are a Figure worth considering, you are a grand Human Possibility, if scattered here and there, are those whose Silent Confidence and Trust, will find you though the shadow of Failure shut you totally away from Yourself and the Crowd. For it's The Believe Ins that are responsible for all Success.

So long as you have The Believe Ins, your Immortal Success is Safe.

Genuineness is greater than Genius. The most stupendous Fortune is cheap beside a real Believe In. No matter where you go nor what you do, if your worth deserves it, your Believe Ins are sure to follow you and cast a spell of Magic Power about you, like unto "Troops of beautiful tall Angels." You are secure. For—

So long as you have The Believe Ins, your Immortal Success is safe.

Who are The Believe Ins? Why! You know. They are the Mothers, the Wives, the Brothers, the Sisters, the Employers, ofttimes the uncrowned Kings and Queens that reign everywhere—those who tell you you have Won when you feel that you have Failed, those who whisper Cheer to you when you think all Cheer is gone, those who Smile into your very Heart and stream it with Sunlight, after you have drawn every blind. The Believe Ins! They are the Inspirers of your solid Faith.

Also, one's Believe Ins are the Inspirers of this unpretending little talk.

Hassan's Proverb.

King Hassan, well beloved, was wont to say,
When aught went wrong or any project failed:
"Tomorrow, friends, will be another day!"
And in that faith he slept and so prevailed.

Long live this proverb! While the world shall roll
Tomorrows, fresh, shall rise from out the night,
And new baptize the indomitable soul
With courage for its never ending fight.

No one, I say, is conquered till he yields;
And yield he need not, while, like mist from glass,
God wipes the stain of life-old battlefields
From every morning that he brings to pass.

New day, new hope, new courage! Let this be,
Oh, soul, thy cheerful creed! What's yesterday,
With all its shards and wrack and grief, to thee?
Forget it, then—here lies the victor's way.

—James Buckham.

Referred to Allah.

A French statistician wrote to the vali of Aleppo and asked these four questions: "What are your imports? What is the water supply? What is the birth rate? The death rate?" The vali replied: "It is impossible for any one to know the number of camels that kneel in the markets of Aleppo. The water supply is sufficient. No one ever died of thirst in Aleppo. The mind of Allah alone knows how many children shall be born in this vast city in any given time. As to the death rate, who would venture to ascertain this, for it is revealed only to the angels of death who shall be taken and who shall be left. Oh, son of the west, cease your idle and presumptuous questionings, and know that these things are not revealed to the children of men!"

The World's Mysteries

WHERE WAS GOLDSMITH'S "DESERTED VILLAGE?"

It has always been a question as to whether Goldsmith's "Deserted Village," which he so picturesquely describes as "Sweet Auburn! loveliest village of the plain," was wholly an invention of the poet's fancy or whether it was an actual village that he was describing. The poem suggests several deserted villages both in England and the United States, but by several writers it is believed that the village he described was that of a little settlement which lies on the Yorkshire coast, near Bridlington, and others, that it was Lissoy. The desertion of the former village was caused not, however, by the reason described by Goldsmith, by the the inroads of the sea, which washed away the church and the whole village, with the exception of one farmhouse, which no doubt will also soon disappear, as it stands on the very edge of the cliff.

In all the early copies of Goldsmith's "Deserted Village" is shown a vignette engraved upon the title page of a deserted village presenting a place on the seacoast with the ruined church on the edge of a cliff, features which are said to bear a striking resemblance to those of Auburn, now called Holderness.

Moore, in his life of Goldsmith, is of the opinion that the place was Lissoy. This is a little village a few miles away from Pallas, County Limerick, Ireland, far from the coast. But he says, "To attempt to identify any village described by any poet who lived before Wordsworth would be as hazardous a venture as to identify Windsor Forest from Pope's poem, if he had not provided us with a clew on the title page."

Many of the lines of "The Deserted Village" were probably suggested by Goldsmith's recollection of Lissoy, and possibly some complaint made about the depredations of a local landlord, in a letter which he received from his brother, suggested the humble tragedy of the poem, but it might be possible for a hundred villages in England to substantiate their claim to be the original of Auburn were the question to be decided solely because of their answering to the details of identification supplied by the author.

A good many English villages could no doubt produce their nightingale, and in that case Lissoy might be easily disqualified for competing for the coveted position. Regarding Lissoy an eminent writer says: "Could any one have seen the Irish village as it actually existed when Goldsmith lived in his father's rectory, assuredly it never would have entered any one's head that Goldsmith had it in his mind when he described the 'loveliest village of the plain.'"

No doubt, however, Goldsmith had no idea of reproducing the unsavory incidents of village life in Ireland in the eighteenth century, when he wrote "The Deserted Village." Though it may be untrue to Lissoy in many of its details, the poem is still true to nature in its spirit, its sentiment and above all, its characterization.

Goldsmith lived in the place for several years. In fact, more than half his lifetime was spent in Ireland, and yet it seems to have been thought remarkable by a good many people that he should possess so many of the characteristics of the Irish and so little emphasis placed on this fact by his biographers. It was during these years in Ireland that his character was formed—that he acquired those traits which, engraved upon such a nature as he inherited, caused him to be the most unfortunate as well as the best loved of men.

The perfect picture of the school-master in "The Deserted Village" is said to have been inspired by the poet's recollections of Thomas Byrne, but equally certain it is that the school was an English village school and not the cabin where Thomas Byrne "shouldered his crutch and showed how fields were won."

"The Deserted Village" is undoubtedly the best of Goldsmith's poems. This poem was written in the year 1796, but it was not until the May of the following year that it was printed. It is perhaps the most compact poem ever written and conveys to the reader a sense of the need for every word that it contains. There is no superfluous line.

VENISON COOKERY.

(Please note: If readers of this column want Miss Grauel to send them special menus for holiday entertaining or any particular advice they must send their request, with a stamped addressed envelope, immediately. There are only a few cooking days left until Christmas and it will be impossible to give much attention to last minute requests.)

An out-of-town correspondent writes: "Believing the proverb that 'there is a time for everything' we always have turkey for our Thanksgiving dinner, though we think the meat is dry and are not particularly fond of it. This year I thought I should like to have game of some sort for Christmas and New Year's dinners, and am watching your column for recipes for cooking venison or rabbits. My son is going hunting and I want to know how to treat whatever creature he brings home."

There is an irresistible fascination about game, and first-hand caught foods, that never fails. Bake, broil or stew your wild creatures and they will please and satisfy.

A motherly woman once told me when her little boy brought in his first fish with the request that she cook it, she felt that she was an incompetent mother because she could not do her share. Whether to pick the scales off by hand, or to first scald them, she did not know; a neighbor saved the day for her and she said that after that she lost no time in mastering the interesting principles of game cookery.

Venison is considered by good diners everywhere to be our finest wild meat. It is not rank in flavor like bear, nor too rich like 'possum, yet it has a peculiar definite taste unlike any other meat. Venison cutlets, steaks, tenderloin and all flesh cuts should be broiled over a clear flame and dressed with salt, pepper and melted butter as you would a fine porterhouse steak. If you cannot broil these cuts they may be breaded or floured and fried in a little dripping in a frying pan, but broiled meat is best meat.

Shoulder of deer and all the large cuts are cooked just as you cook mutton or roast shoulder of lamb. Currant jelly is always served with venison.

Rabbit stew and pot-pie are renowned dishes, but two or three bunnies are required to serve six persons, as the back and ribs are not choice portions. They may be saved and used in making game broth, which is truly a fine soup. The fore legs and breast meat of the rabbit are cut off in one piece and separated before stewing into "helpable" pieces, and the thighs and back legs are the next choicest.

Roast rabbit is to my mind a very practical way of making this tidbit stretch a bit so the entire family may have a plentiful serving. Stuff two whole rabbits with a fine rich bread crumb dressing plentifully seasoned with powdered herbs. Place in covered roasting pan and bake forty minutes. Dredge with flour at the last so they will be nicely browned.

This makes a handsome meat dish and is splendid eating. Duck, wild turkey, grouse and similar birds need to be wrapped in slices of well flavored bacon before being put to roast to prevent the meat from drying.

Small birds should be split, buttered and broiled and should have hot biscuits, mashed creamed potatoes and a fine meat gravy served with them.

Green Sunsets.

(From The Chicago News.)

Green sunsets seen by the Russian explorers in the newly discovered polar land have been matched in England. Throughout November and December of 1883 the sunsets and afterglows were of wonderful intensity and varied colors. At Chelsea especially the sun went down over the Thames amid a blaze of unearthly beauty ranging from deepest red to green, as may be seen in a series of water color sketches made at the time and now preserved in the Chelsea free library. Sir Norman Lockyer and other astronomers attributed these winter sunsets to the volcanic dust projected by the great eruption of Krakatoa, in Java, in the previous August.

Father of Fox Hunting.

(From The London Chronicle.)

John Warde, of Westerham, is generally believed to have been the father of fox hunting. He was master of the hounds for more than half a century, and then he sold his pack for the record price of 2,000 guineas. "This mighty hunter," writes Gibson Thompson, "died in 1838 at the ripe old age of 86, at his house on Charles street, Berkeley square. One of the portraits of him at Squerries court, that by James Green, is in the dining room. His favorite hounds were two, Glory and Beauty; the picture shows him with but one, and he is supposed to be soliloquizing: 'My Beauty hath departed, but my Glory remains.'"

Ponderous Personages

BEETHOVEN.

By George Fitch,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Beethoven, whose name is familiar to almost all people except lovers of modern popular music, was a German, who lived over a century ago when Germany was stronger in melody than it was in politics.

In 1770, when Beethoven was born, music meant more to Europe than baseball does in America today, and the man who could compose a class A concerto could drop around to breakfast with kings and emperors almost as freely as if he had carried a ward election. When Beethoven was five years old he began to study the violin, the piano forte, singing and composition. Later at the age of nine he got a little education in writing and reading, but was always a poor mathematician, seldom asking for change when paying for his purchases. At eleven he was assistant court organist and at 13 was publishing music.

At fifteen Beethoven was supporting his family with his music. He was a rough unpolished boy, with a bad temper and ridiculous clothes, but when he went to the piano and began to tease heart throbs and day dreams out of it his queer clothes were forgotten and even conversation ceased. Still we must remember that this latter story may have grown some during the last hundred years.

Beethoven lived almost sixty years and in that time produced about as much music as a good right-and-left-handed comic opera composer now turns out in a couple of seasons. His fame became world wide, and when it became known that he was about to finish a new concerto there was as much suspense in England as there is now over the American tariff bill. But Beethoven himself was not happy. Before he was forty his hearing began to fail, and in his last years he could not hear at all. This made him gloomy, despondent and gruff, but it did not impair his music.

Beethoven's deafness was a tragedy, especially because at that time it was so unnecessary. Haydn, Mozart, Schubert and other great masters filled the world with beautiful music, and even had he possessed four ears, a young composer would not be in danger. But today when deafness until the age of twenty-five would be almost necessary to produce another Beethoven, all musicians have good ears and most of them get syncopated in time and perish in comic opera.

"When Beethoven Was Five Years Old He Began to Study the Piano Forte."

Beethoven was great because he wrote more for the heart and soul, and not so much for the feet.

Indian Warfare Films.

(From The New York Times.)

The stirring scenes of frontier life are to be perpetuated in motion pictures, and especially the vanishing civilization of the redmen. The Army and Navy Journal describes the recent journey to Pine Ridge of General Miles, accompanied by Generals Lee, Maus and Baldwin, to act against the peace pact between the Indians and the whites that averted a bad Indian was in the winter of 1890-91. The allegiance there pledged to the White Father at Washington is still unbroken. Pictures of the battle at Wounded Knee have been reproduced with the help of its still living participants. Other Indian fights, the most notable being that with War Bonnet in 1876, in which Buffalo Bill participated, have been reproduced for film records that will soon be spread before the millions who patronize the cinema theaters.

The Hunter's Moon.

(From The St. Louis Post-Pispatch.)

I never see the hunter's moon
But on the autumn wind is borne
From some deep wood in imagery
The music of the hunting horn;
Now winding in the mellow morn,
Or softly in the dewey night—
Always that same sweet resonance
In which the world has found delight.

The fantasy that moon revives
Is one that somehow never dies;
It rings where Nimrod sweetly sleeps,
And Bahram, that great hunter, lies;
Sweet cloating in the autumn skies
For love and beauty of the chase,
When that great sign, the hunter's moon,
Goes wheeling through the reach of space.

MUCH INTEREST FELT IN THOMAS' SUCCESSOR

Opinion Is That H. F. Smith Will Be Next President of N., C. & St. L.

Much interest was evinced in local railroad circles Wednesday as to who will be the successor of the late "Little John" Thomas, president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad. None are willing to venture a positive prediction, but the opinion seems to prevail that H. F. Smith, present vice president and traffic manager of the road, who is next in line, will be the future head of the road.

Mr. Smith is a brother of M. H. Smith, president of the Louisville and Nashville road, and is a railroad man of long experience. He has served in important capacities with the Louisville and Nashville and with the Southern. His reputation is that of one of the most capable traffic managers and greatest organizers in the railroad world of the south.

Wednesday afternoon mourning banners floated from the Atlanta offices of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, in token of respect and grief for the dead president. All the engines of the road will bear black banners on Thursday and Friday, and at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, which is the hour set for President Thomas' funeral in Nashville, every wheel on the entire system will stop for five minutes, while all the employees of the road stand with bared heads.

Thomas' Funeral Today.

Nashville, Tenn., December 17.—Although Mrs. John W. Thomas, Jr., widow of the late President John W. Thomas, Jr., of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway, had requested that no flowers be sent to adorn the bier of the distinguished railroad official, special permission was granted by her today to employees of the road of which he was the head, to send a floral blanket to cover the grave.

The trainmen at a meeting this afternoon perfected plans to attend the funeral. A large delegation will assemble at the Thomas home and march in a body to the church. President Thomas was personally known to hundreds of railroad men as "Johnny" Thomas.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Traffic will be suspended on the road at that hour for five minutes and all engine cabs will be draped in black. The stations of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis will be in funeral colors for thirty days.

WILL TELL METHODS

Helen Keller's Teacher to Describe Work.

In the presence here of Helen Keller, who will deliver a lecture at the Auditorium next Saturday evening, Atlantans will witness the most wonderful miracle of the present time. No drama more thrilling, stronger with emotion or more full of human sympathy has ever been enacted on any stage, than this marvelous story that will be told by Miss Keller and her teacher and companion, Mrs. Albert Macy.

Miss Keller, who at nineteen months of age was deaf, dumb and blind, will speak herself from the stage of the Auditorium, and she will speak loud enough for her address to be heard in the most remote corners of the hall.

In addition to Miss Keller's speech, Mrs. Macy will deliver an address, telling how she found the deaf, dumb and blind child of six years; of her slow mastery of the child's character, of the gradual dawning of perception of facts and the correlation of ideas. She will tell of the long and painful years of education and of the struggle that teacher and pupil went through.

The ladies of the United Daughters of Confederacy, under whose auspices this lecture is being given, feel that this opportunity to hear one of the epics of the age from the two principal actors in it, is one that Atlantans cannot afford to miss. Tickets are now on sale at the Cable piano company.

LINCOLN M'CONNELL TO LECTURE MONDAY

Monday evening at 8 o'clock, Dr. Lincoln McConnell, pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle, will deliver his well known lecture on "Colored Folks," which he has given on the lecture platform in many parts of the country with great success.

Dr. McConnell, who has been on a lecture tour through the north for several weeks, arrives home in time to preach before his congregation Sunday morning and evening.

WOMEN TO ASSIST IN NEW VICE CRUSADE

A probe of vice conditions in Atlanta will be made at an early date by the Atlanta Equal Suffrage association. Headed by Mrs. Amelia Woodall, an active official of the organization, an investigation committee is already being formed of five men and women suffrage supporters.

Prominent vice crusaders will be enlisted in the campaign, and many police officials who are acquainted with local conditions will be called upon to assist.

These men are well fitted for their office in every way and know the lands and the property values in all sections of the county.

SON FIRED SHOT WHICH WOUNDED QUARRELING FATHER

Columbus, Ga., December 17.—(Special.)—When Doc McChristian, a boarder at the home of Mrs. J. W. Bonds, drew a pistol in the midst of a family mix-up at that house Saturday night and began firing, and Bonds was shot in the arm and his little son, Theopholes Bonds, was generally wounded, McChristian was generally accredited with being the person who wounded the other two. He evidently thought so himself, for he fled and has not been located.

When Bonds was arraigned in court today, charged with assault and battery, his stepson, Aubrey Brewer, stated that he, and not McChristian, fired the shots that really took effect. He said that during the excitement, while McChristian was firing, he seized his 22-caliber rifle and fired. The lad said that Bonds had been beating him and had just knocked his mother down, and he shot at him in defense of her and his stepbrother. The boy said that if the bullets which made the wounds were produced they would substantiate his statement. The ball which had entered Bonds' arm was produced in court, and was a 22-caliber rifle ball.

Bonds was bound over to a higher court. No acse has been made against young Brewer. Although seriously wounded, Theopholes Bonds will probably recover.

NO BALMY WEATHER IS HEADED THIS WAY

Unsettled weather again today with more than a possibility of much rain before the sun sets. That is the official weather forecast as announced Wednesday by the "weather makers" for this vicinity.

The prediction of Tuesday that Atlanta was on the very edge of excellent or poor weather—either one or the other—turned out to be correct. The weather Wednesday was fair until late in the afternoon, when a haze and high clouds wrapped the city in gloom, and a drizzling rain started to fall just after first dark.

That this vicinity is in for a season of rainy and disagreeable weather is now assured. The weather bureau sees no balmy weather ahead for several days at least, and, of course, no predictions can be made beyond 60 hours at the limit.

Be prepared to face rain and cold breezes at least today and tonight. Tomorrow—well, that's another thing.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Lula F. Connolly; three grandchildren, H. O. and A. J. Connolly, and Mrs. G. B. Adair, Jr.; two brothers and one sister.

Interment will be in Oakland cemetery.

DIVIDEND DECLARED BY AMERICAN NAVAL STORES

Savannah, Ga., December 17.—(Special.)—A 10 per cent dividend in favor of the unsecured creditors of the American Naval Stores company, which suspended business several months ago, was declared today. The secured creditors have been paid in full.

When the American suspended last March the creditors' committee raised a working fund of $592,000 from subscriptions among the creditors, and this was used to meet the pressing needs for current business. This advance by the creditors was repaid with interest prior to October 1. One of the drawbacks to the early liquidation of the American in its entirety was the Union Naval Stores company, on whose notes the American is indorser to the extent of $1,198,639. The total liabilities of the concern at this time amount to $3,308,668.

The announcement of a 10 per cent dividend was cheering news.

WOOTEN FOUND GUILTY

Of Voluntary Manslaughter. Mercy Is Recommended.

Macon, Ga., December 17.—Harry Wooten, of Monticello, Jasper county, was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter and recommended to the mercy of the court today in connection with the killing of Tom Smith several weeks ago, in the restricted district. Judge Mathews deferred sentence until tomorrow morning.

Wooten claimed self-defense, alleging that Smith had him down on the ground beating him with an iron bolt when he shot him. Wooten is only 22 years of age.

VALDOSTA ENTHUSIASTIC OVER GEORGIA CHAMBER

Plans for Systematic Marketing Discussed—President Haden Speaks.

Valdosta, Ga., December 17.—(Special.)—The chamber of commerce met Tuesday night to hear Charles J. Haden, president of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, on some important matters. A proposed meeting of the truck growers in south Georgia at Savannah in the middle of January was discussed and by unanimous vote of the Valdosta Chamber of Commerce, resolution was passed approving a call for such meeting.

Plans were discussed looking to the possible organization of the truck growers for systematic and co-operative marketing. It is believed that in this way, with appropriate warehouses, having cold storage facilities, returns for the growers will be greatly increased.

Valdosta business men, as a result of the meeting, are discussing the question of a large warehouse, fully equipped, connected with the proposed plan of marketing.

Mr. Haden outlined at the meeting the method already begun by the Georgia Chamber of Commerce for arousing the people in counties of south and southwest Georgia first threatened by the boll weevil, to take steps to meet the invasion. Among these plans is the billposting of each county, warning of the approach of the weevil, and suggesting plans for growing larger crops of grain and foodstuffs, and for more intensive method of cultivating cotton, which will ripen in advance of the insect.

The plan proposed was heartily and unanimously indorsed by the Valdosta Chamber of Commerce, with assurances that Valdosta and Lowndes county would do their full part.

LANE'S CURE FOR APPENDICITIS

"They were interested in the man, the hospital and his clinics," Dr. Long said. "He gave us free facilities for seeing his patients before he operated on them for serious complaints. I saw patients from whom he removed the colon for ulcer, tuberculosis of the hip joint and other pathological complaints. I went to other clinics in other places, and returned and saw the patient sent to him by Sir James McKenzie and on whom he operated for toxic heart.

"Whenever we asked anyone what they thought of Lane's methods, only the young and inexperienced were found ready to condemn. The fact that Lane's operation is a radical operation is no reason why it should be condemned. It is a line of work to be studied."

No Comment on Radium.

A dispatch from Philadelphia read at the morning session of the association created quite a stir. The message was from Philadelphia quoting Dr. Howard Kelly, of Johns Hopkins, Baltimore, and Dr. Robert Abbey of New York, as saying that the word "cure" can now be applied to the radium form of treatment for cancer, but that the treatment can be used successfully only on superficial cancer in its early stages.

No comment was offered, although Dr. C. H. Mayo and his associates, Drs. MacCarty and Judd, read papers dealing with the treatment of cancer.

Members of the association would not comment on the message. Both Dr. Kelly and Dr. Abbe are regarded as authorities on the subject of cancer treatment, and the association will not take cognizance until their findings are officially reported. Dr. Kelly is a member of the association, and is held in high regard.

Dr. Mayo's paper was a technical treatise on the treatment of cancer of the intestines.

Dr. William MacCarty classified the various forms of cancer in his paper relating to clinical suggestions, based upon a study of primary, secondary and tertiary carcinoma and epithelial hyperplasia in the breast. Dr. MacCarty defended Lane inasmuch as he declared that radicalism was necessary in the treatment of cancer.

Requires Three Years.

Dr. E. S. Judd, who is also associated with the Mayo brothers, spoke on the end results after operations for carcinoma of the breast. He declared that the custom has been to allow three years to elapse before determining whether cancer was cured. He said that in six years 608 cases came under his observation, and that he is able to trace 516 cases. He cited records of several patients living from two to six years after being operated on. He produced statistics to show that in cases of young people operations are not hopeless. He said that operations for cancer of the breast have been just as good as operations for cancers located elsewhere.

In the discussion of Dr. Judd's paper, Dr. W. L. Rodman, of Philadelphia, stated that 25 per cent of the cases now under his observation have undergone cancerization. He spoke of the case of a young girl, 19 years old, who had a successful operation for cancer. He said that cancer is shown to have a tendency to spread in the past few years; that it is not only breaking down the barrier of age and the racial barrier, but is spreading geographically.

Is Spreading Geographically.

He pointed out that the negro is no longer immune, and that it has been proven that the North American Indian is susceptible to the disease. He stated that he has knowledge of patients who have lived five and six years after an operation without a recurrence of the disease or symptoms of cancer. He also cited the case of a young woman six months in pregnancy who was operated on for cancer of the breast and she got well.

The most important suggestion thrown out in the addresses of Drs. MacCarty and Judd was the necessity of keeping track of patients operated upon.

On the motion of Dr. T. S. Cullen, of Baltimore, the association went on record as approving the movement of the American Association for the Treatment of cancer. Dr. Cullen told the convention that the association has splendid financial backing and needs the physical support of the medical men of the country.

Dr. Willis Westmoreland, of Atlanta, suggested the importance of keeping family histories of patients operated on for removal of cancer.

Would Limit Young Surgeons.

During the morning session, which began at 10 o'clock, members disapproved of young surgeons making abdominal openings.

In his paper on terminal conditions of the surgery of the biliary passages, Dr. H. O. Marcy, of Boston, one of the oldest members of the association, concluding the discussion counseled that in making the opening in the abdomen it should be made sufficiently large to make sure the tract is under visual inspection.

Dr. Marcy related an instance of a young surgeon, who after having lost the latest of several patients on whose abdominal regions he operated, was asked by an older practitioner: "Who trained you in abdominal surgery?" "Nobody," was the reply. "Who have you seen perform abdominal operations?" "No one," replied the young surgeon, and continuing: "I have made a thorough study of it in the books and I think my first patient did very well, for she lived forty-eight hours after I operated on her."

Dr. John G. Clark, of Philadelphia, declared in his paper on the ultimate results in eight cases of colectomy for facal stasis, that the operation known as "short-circuiting" the lower intestine is not an unqualified success and should not be performed except to remove real obstructions. He said that the law of "no obstruction, no operation" should govern its use.

"Inventor Goes Too Far."

"The inventor of a new operation is liable to lead too far in his enthusiasm," Dr. Clark said. "We run that risk here. At least in a desperate case it is an operation we may try, but not with enthusiastic expectation of any marvelous change in the patient's temperament."

Dr. J. M. T. Finney, of Baltimore, read a study of the causes of unsatisfactory result following an operation on the billiary tract. He declared that too often the gall bladder is mended when it ought to be taken out and too often it is taken out when it should be mended.

Dr. Rudolph Matas, of New Orleans, read a short paper on the application and the route to be followed to the gasserain ganglion for the purpose of medical and surgical anaesthesia and gave a technical demonstration with a number of lantern slides.

Deformity in Whole Family.

"Heredity in Bone Lesions, With a Report of an Unusual Family History" was read by Dr. Joseph Ranssohoff, of Cincinnati. He related the history of a family that suffered through several generations from hereditary deformity. The mother died of central sarcoma, the son developed syphilis and he died also of sarcoma. Another son developed Padgett's disease and died. A child of the son last referred to developed osteogenesis and an amputation was necessary afterwards.

In the discussion following Dr. Frank Martin defended Dr. Lane's method of fixation of fracture. He explained that it was only recently that he became converted to the London surgeon's method.

The session of the second day was closed at 6:10 o'clock. Members were disappointed when it was announced that Dr. J. B. Murphy, of Chicago, had not arrived to read his paper.

At 8 o'clock the visitors were entertained at a dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving club.

The session will be brought to a close Thursday afternoon. A number of notable papers will be read.

IS SERIOUSLY SHOT IN FIGHT ARISING OVER INITIATION

Columbus, Ga., December 17.—(Special.)—Norwood Bickerstaff, a young man of Hatchechubbee, Ala., is in the Columbus hospital tonight seriously wounded and perhaps in a dying condition, and J. Dyke Delacey, of the same town, is under arrest at Seale, Ala., the Russell county seat, as a result of a difficulty at Hatchechubbee last night.

Reports state that a fraternal order was conducting an initiation in a building owned by the Delacey family, and Dyke Delacey, who objected to the use of fireworks about the building by the order, became angered when a cannon cracker exploded and while standing in front of the building expressed himself in vigorous language. Norwood Bickerstaff resented his remarks and a quarrel ensued. Delacey is said to have declared that if anybody touched him he would shoot him. Bickerstaff reached out and touched him and Delacey instantly shot him in the side. He also fired at Frank Bickerstaff, the other's brother, and two of the bullets went through his clothing but did not touch him. Frank Bickerstaff opened fire upon Delacey, wounding him in the arm and leg, but not seriously.

Norwood Bickerstaff was brought to Columbus on a special train today for surgical attention. Delacey has a wife and family.

It is reported that Delacey had applied for membership in the order that met at his building, and that his application was refused.

LARGE BAUXITE MINE BOUGHT NEAR AMERICUS

Americus, Ga., December 17.—(Special.)—An important industry is rapidly being established near Americus by the Republic Mining company, of St. Louis, which has acquired possession of a valuable deposit of bauxite in the purchase of the Holt plantation. The company is today installing a large mining plant, and will soon be busily at work there with considerable force of operatives. The Holt farm of 300 acres was purchased by the Republic Mining company. It is said that the bauxite deposits there are exceedingly valuable.

Several carloads of mining machinery has just arrived at the Holt farm, and experts are busily engaged in erecting the big mill and putting the plant in readiness for operation.

AUTOMOBILE WRECKED AT RAILROAD CROSSING

Lyerly, Ga., December 17.—(Special.) While attempting to cross the Central of Georgia railway tracks at Trion a few days ago in an automobile, a freight train backed into the auto and wrecked the car and slightly injured the occupants, Dr. B. F. and W. C. Stark and a drummer passenger. The crossing is considered one of the most dangerous in the county, it being practically obscured from view.

The automobile was totally wrecked and the Messrs. Stark were considerably bruised.

SECOND TRIAL RESULTS IN CASE AGAINST WALL

Savannah, Ga., December 17.—(Special.)—A second mistrial having resulted, Edwin Wall, charged with the murder of Marion Lanzy, will go on trial for the third time at the next term of the superior court. The second mistrial was declared today. When Wall was first placed on trial, Collie Wall, his brother, "admitted" that he and not his brother, killed Lanzy. However, his "confession" was never taken seriously. The Walls are white. Lanzy was a negro.

STANLEY CONSIDERS BUILDING BRIDGE

Whether or not the Seaboard Air Line railroad will comply with or fight the order of the Fulton county commissioners in the matter of the construction of a new and adequate bridge at the Howell Mill road crossing, is now being considered by H. M. Stanley, general manager of the Seaboard.

The Seaboard on Wednesday received official notification of the county's action last week in condemning the bridge and this notice has been referred to General Manager Stanley.

W. L. Digby Released.

Cordele, Ga., December 17.—(Special.)—W. L. Digby, charged with the murder of Henry Hunt, a negro, has been released from the Crisp county jail under bond of $3,500 by order of Judge W. F. George of the superior court. Hearing of application for bail for Digby was held before Judge George at Vienna yesterday. The application was made on the grounds that Digby had acted in self-defense in killing the negro and that his continued confinement in jail would jeopardize his life, since he is in declining health.

To Build New Almshouse.

Rome, Ga., December 17.—(Special.) The board of county commissioners decided today to employ an architect and proceed immediately with the erection of a new almshouse. WRIGHT'S NEPHEW FLAYS ENFORCEMENT LEAGUE

Called "Hypocritical Stink-pot" by Wright Willingham.

Rome, Ga., December 17.—(Special.) A political sensation was caused here today by the publication of a scathing card to the public, in which Wright Willingham, newly-elected president of the chamber of commerce, denounces the Rome Law Enforcement league as "a hypocritical stink-pot. Additional interest is given the card from the fact that its author is a nephew of Hon. Seaborn Wright, president of the local Law Enforcement league and organizer of similar bodies throughout the state. Heretofore the Wright family, with various influential branches, has always presented a united front in politics, but signs are not wanting that a split is impending. Mr. Willingham's complaint is based on the prosecution of italian and Syrian merchants for violation of the Sunday law in the sale of fruit, soft drink and cigars, while he alleges that "the rich and influential vendors are allowed to ply their trade unmolested." He says in part: "The fundamental policy of a thing like this is usually to scourge the weak, timid and helpless, hoping thereby to cajole into terms the rich and influential. I address myself particularly to the Law Enforcement league, because at this particular time you are taking to yourself the credit for the 'ideal political conditions prevailing in Rome.' Also because you are the self-confessed more-righteous-than-thou element. If the Law Enforcement league smells a cork out of a beer bottle it throws a fit, but the rest of the business can go to Hades."

The author of the card pays his respects to Claude H. Porter, solicitor of Floyd city court, as follows: "If I were solicitor I would see my right arm cut off before I would raise it to strike one of these people who have comes to cast their lot among us, unless that same right arm was also raised to strike the rich and influential with equal force for the same offense."

MILLEDGEVILLE WOMAN DRAGGED BY PICKPOCKET

Milledgeville, Ga., December 17.—(Special.)—Another case of purse-snatching in the heart of the city will warn Christmas shoppers. On yesterday afternoon about dusk, the purse of Mrs. George Case was snatched by a negro. Mrs. Case was on her way home and was walking on Jefferson street, one of the principal residence sections. She held on to her purse, which contained $25, and was dragged for half a block before she let it go. Dogs were put on the tracks of the negro, but he has not been caught.

SAYS OFFICER COERCED SOLDIER WITNESSES

Savannah, Ga., December 17.—(Special.)—Colonel R. L. Colding, in the superior court, today openly charged that a commissioned officer from Fort Screven had coerced the several enlisted men who were witnesses for the state in the prosecution of R. L. Bynum, who was charged with operating a blind tiger near the fort. Colonel Colding declared that the soldiers changed their testimony as a result of coercion on the part of the officers.

Confederate Park Fair.

Oglethorpe, Ga., December 17.—(Special.)—The Oglethorpe chapter, United Daughter of the Confederacy, are arranging for a park at Oglethorpe. The park will be dedicated to the memory of the confederate soldiers of Macon county. The land for the park has been donated to the chapter. They desire to fence the park, plant trees and flowers and erect a suitable tablet to the memory of the soldiers of the county who volunteered under the confederate flag. In the place of a monument they have agreed upon a park. Contributions forwarded by mail should be sent to Mrs. J. J. Bull or Mrs. T. J. Slappey. Those sent by freight or express to Judge J. B. Murray or Colonel J. J. Bull. All contributions of every kind will be appreciated.

BAINBRIDGE BOARD OFFERS PRESIDENT FINE FISHING TRIP

Bainbridge, Ga., December 17.—(Special.)—An entire steamer is to be placed at the disposal of President Wilson and party, if he accepts the invitation extended him by the Bainbridge Board of Trade to go hunting on Dead lakes, known as the sportsman's paradise. Augusta invited the president to visit that famous winter resort recently, and he replied that he knew so many people in his boyhood home that it would be impossible for him to rest while there. So Bainbridge is offering him an opportunity to get complete rest and as fine hunting as the entire country affords. The invitation is to ask him to visit Decatur county either before or after the visit Savannah is seeking to get him to make.

The plan is to turn over the steamer John W. Callahan, the finest and biggest plying the Flint river, to Mr. Wilson and to permit him to use it as he wishes and as long as he wants. At this season Dead lakes are at their best, and a number of noted millionaires are here to take advantage of the wonderful plentitude of game and fish with which the locality abounds. Not as widely advertised as some places, those who know say it is without an equal in the south.

Southern smilax, with palms and ferns, artistically arranged, decorated the apartments. The ceremony took place in the drawing room, where the wedding party was grouped before an altar banked with palms and ferns, and on either side of the altar white tapers burned in cathedral candlesticks.

Luncheon was served in the salon, which was banked with palms, and the oval table had an elaborate decoration in pink and white and green. In the center was a luxurious arrangement of begonias, with a border of pink roses, and at intervals about the table were vases of roses and little urns of variegated foliage, with streamers of smilax as a flat decoration. Souvenirs were little bisque vases of spun candy flowers, the vases set in the ice cream.

Social Service Class.

A great deal of interest is being shown in the social service class of the Anti-Tuberculosis and Visiting Nurse association. A lecture is given on some subject of social importance Wednesday mornings from 8:30 to 9:30 o'clock in the reception room of the Anti-Tuberculosis and Visiting Nurse association, 708 Gould building.

The subject for Wednesday morning, December 17, will be "Principles of Sanitary Science and Public Health." This lecture will be delivered by Dr. A. G. Fort, of the state board of health. There will be four lectures on this subject.

Not only the nurses of the Anti-Tuberculosis association and the agents of the Associated Charities are invited to attend these lectures, but any person interested in social work in the city is cordially invited.

On Saturday morning, December 20, from 8:30 to 9:30 o'clock in the reception room of the Anti-Tuberculosis association Dr. George Niles will deliver a lecture on the subject of "Digestive Disorders and Their Relation to Tuberculosis." This is a very interesting subject and is of great importance to the public in that the digestive organs must be kept in healthy condition in order that the human body may be strong and able to resist disease.

Every one interested in social betterment is invited to attend these lectures.

Children's Party.

One of the most delightful children's parties of the week was that at which Martha Anderson entertained on Monday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Anderson.

The Christmas idea prevailed, holly, cedar and red bells were used in all the decorations. In the dining room the table centerpiece was a large flat plateau of holly, on which was placed the birthday cake, the work of the little girl's grandmother. It had for the main decoration a miniature Christmas tree, on whose branches were placed the eight candles that numbered the years of the life of the little hostess. Around this were placed tall brass candelibra, which were joined together by ropes made of green cedar. Punch was served by Miss Mary Garrison. Thirty guests were entertained. Little Miss Anderson was assisted in entertaining by her mother and her aunt, Mrs. J. F. Hozelton.

Miss Stewart Entertains For Debutante Set

A beautiful inauguration of the holiday entertainments was the afternoon reception given yesterday by Miss Nellie Kiser Stewart at her home.

Two hundred of the unmarried set, including a number of gentlemen, called between 5 and 7 o'clock and three lovely members of the debutante group were the guests of honor—Miss Anne Akers, Miss Jessie McKee and Miss Katherine Ellis.

The house was decorated with elaborate taste, a festive profusion of smilax forming the decorative basis. The graceful vine framed doorways, windows and mantels, and a delicate frieze was made of it in all the rooms. White carnations were the flowers used effectively in the small blue-and-white drawing room, where the receiving party was grouped. In the other reception rooms tall vases were filled with American Beauty roses, and palms were massed appropriately.

In the dining room, the table centerpiece was a basket of Richmond roses and valley lilies, and the holiday red and green prevailed in pretty detail. Punch was served from a palm-embowered alcove in the hall, and Miss Dorothy Harmon, Miss Margaret Grant and Miss Marion Vaughn presided at the punch bowl.

Pouring tea and chocolate were Miss Alice May Freeman, Miss Caroline Muse, Miss Elizabeth Morgan and Miss Nell Prince.

The music of an orchestra was a bright incident.

Miss Stewart wore a becoming gown of blue charmeuse with tunic of gold lace and spangled net. The girdle was of copper-colored satin.

TRIM LITTLE WOMAN CHASING A THIEF IS JOINED BY MANY

Pedestrians and residents along Capitol avenue at the corner of Crumley were thrilled last night at the sight of a trim little woman, skirts held in running shape, darting down Capitol avenue in pursuit of a negro youth.

"Stop him, he's a thief!" she cried.

Men, women and children joined. Soon it resembled a moving picture pursuit, where the fugitive is chased by all types of citizens, mostly women. At the third block, the negro disappeared.

Then the woman who had been crying "Stop Thief," halted, breathless, arranged her hat, and told her name, Mrs. H B. Reeves and how the negro had snatched her chatelaine purse, and $11.50, a valuable locket and a diamond ring.

She was walking across the corner, she told, when the negro, whom she says she can identify, jumped from the shadow of a tree, caught her wrist and snatched her chattelaine purse, and dared up the street. She was so startled, she declared, that she could make no outcry until the negro had fled up the street. Mrs. Reeves lives at 304 Capitol avenue.

SILVER CUP WILL BE PRESENTED BY CHIEF

The big silver cup which will go to the winning troup in next Saturday's boy scout tournament will be presented by Chief James L. Beavers. The events will be judged by the court of honor, consisting of Dr. Marion McH. Hull, Elliott Cheatham, Chip Roberts and Albert Blanchard. The stunts promise novelty, illustrating every branch of scout service. All scouts will turn out in uniform. The scout tournament will show Atlanta that the next generation has the same good stuff as the old. It will also show what hard work can do, because the boys have been at it for weeks practicing. The scout movement has been a great factor in shaping boy life into useful channels and the tournament will be a big boost for more and better scoutcraft among the boys of Atlanta.

GIRL IS BADLY HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

One girl was badly injured and two automobiles wrecked Tuesday night at Marietta and Hampton streets, when two Ford machines, driven by L. M. Reary, of Bucknead, and G. D. Johnson, of 206 Bellwood avenue, collided at 8 o'clock.

The injured girl, Miss Isora Cash, age seventeen, of 156 Bellwood avenue, was thrown from the front seat of the Johnson car to the pavement. Her ankle was severely wrenched, and she was bruised about the head and upper body. A gash was also cut in her chin.

Johnson, who was said to have been driving at a rapid speed, was arraigned in police court yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on a cnarge of reckless driving. The driver of the Reary car and its occupants stated that he was driving at a speed not less than thirty miles an hour. Other witnesses, however, testified that he was going at a much lower rate.

A fine of $10.75 was imposed. According to the evidence, Johnson, his car containing Miss Cash and Mr. and Mrs. Bird Rees, of 156 Bellwood avenue, was coming down Marietta street in the direction of uptown. At the corner, the Reary car, coming from Hampton street, collided with the other machine. Both machines were badly wrecked.

The Reary auto was occupied by H. O. Reary, of Buckhead; Clyde Howard, of 79 Hampton street; C. A. Tumlin and E. E. Tumlin, of 10 Marietta street, and was driven by L. M. Reary. Occupants of both cars appeared in police court to testify.

BILL COLLECTOR GETS ORNATE BLACK EYE

Charles L. Jones jolted a bill collector with a stinging uppercut at his home on Rawson street Tuesday night, and Judge Broyles, having been told that the collector was insulting to his debtor, dismissed the case against him, which is comforting news to unfortunates who suffer insolent collectors.

M. Nissenbaum, the collector, who operates a fancy grocery store at Pulliam and Rawson streets, appeared in court to push the charge. He wore an ornate black eye as proof of the encounter. Mr. Jones was unhurt. According to the evidence, it all happened this way:

Nissenbaum had gone to the Jones home at 8 o'clock Tuesday night to collect a bill, or to collect a part thereof, as was stated, and had been invited to the porch by Jones, so the neighbors upstairs wouldn't be disturbed by whatever might happen.

Nissenbaum, Jones declared, had averred that his debtor was acting ungentlemanly in the transaction, whereupon Jones retorted with the violence that inflicted the ornate aye. Policemen Shumate and Evans, who investigated the case, made charges against both men. Both were dismissed by Judge Broyles.

BROWDER QUITS BRAZIL FOR BIG CHICAGO JOB

George R. Browder, former assistant freight traffic manager of the Southern railway, who made Atlanta his home for many years, has given up his post as traffic director of the Brazil Railway company, and returned to his native country to accept the position of manager for the Corrugated Paper Patents company, with headquarters at Chicago. Mr. Browder was in Atlanta for several days this week visiting at the home of his brother-in-law, R. L. Butt, Jr., en route to Chicago, and it was here that his friends learned of his latest success.

Beginning his career as a mail clerk for the Louisville and Nashville railroad at Montgomery, Ala., at the age of eighteen, Mr. Browder climbed step by step in the transportation world, receiving rapid promotions and holding many important positions. Most of his railroad experience was obtained in the service of the Southern railway. He was stationed in Atlanta from 1904 to 1908 as general freight agent of the Southern and in the latter years was promoted to assistant freight traffic manager. He was one of a committee of three representing Southern lines on the Uniform Classification committee at Chicago from September 1908 to January 1910. Since September 1, 1912, Mr. Browder had been traffic director of the Brazil Railway company, with headquarters at Sao Paulo, Brazil. His new position as manager of the Chicago concern, which operates twelve or fourteen factories, is the most attractive he has yet taken up and it is one in which his friends think he is sure to distinguish himself.

FEDERAL PRISONERS COME IN BARRED CAR

Like a railroad president traveling in his private car with his guests, United States Marshal C. A. Overlock, of Arizona, came into the Atlanta Terminal station yesterday afternoon, the host of eighteen convicts consigned to the federal penitentiary near Atlanta. The marshal's car was taken directly to the federal prison. A line of prison guards was ready to receive the prisoners as they came from the coach. None of the prisoners wore a chain, and as they stepped from the coach they walked into line indicated by a guard into the prison.

"We left Phoenix, Ariz., last Friday," said Marshal Overlock, "and would have been here yesterday but for the floods in Texas. The high water made us take a round-about course and delayed our arrival. Apart from that we haven't had the slightest trouble."

The roll of convicts brought in by Marshal Overlock shows one Chinaman, sent up for perjury; two white men and a Mexican, convicted of white slavery; two white men and two negroes, found guilty of train robbery; one convicted postoffice robber, white; one Indian, found guilty of selling whilsky to Indians, and eight Mexicans, sent up for the same offense.

One of the prisoners brought in by Marshal Overlock comes back to the Atlanta penitentiary for the fourth time, while two others were discharged from the Atlanta penitentiary within the last six months, after completing terms.

Atlanta Hoosiers Plan to Organize a Local Club

Residents of Atlanta, who were fortunate enough to be born or reared in the Hoosier state, Indiana, or who have during their lives lived there for five years, are being urged to attend a gathering of the sons and daughters of Indiana at the Hotel Ansley on Monday night, December 29, at 8 o'clock.

The purpose of the meeting will be to organize a Hoosier club in this city along the lines of the Chicago-Indiana society, the New York-Indiana society and the Hoosier club, of Pittsburg. Jacksonville already has a Hoosier club, numbering over 200 members, and it has been ascertained that there are enough Hoosiers in Atlanta to merit the organization of a similar body here.

The meeting to be held at the Ansley will be for the sole purpose of organization. At that time the Hoosiers of Atlanta will probably name executive committees or elect officers who will at once put in operation the social and business angles of the new club.

It is planned that during the month of February the club will hold a formal dinner at one of the downtown hotels, at which time one of the many Indiana notables, along are or literature lines, will be an honor guest.

All of those interested in the formation of a Hoosier club can enlist as charter members without cost by addressing a letter to George W. Ryan, of No. 11 Inman street.

Mr. Ryan already holds a list of over fifty Hoosiers now in Atlanta, and it is believed that an appeal through the newspapers will produce at least three times this number of loyal sons.

It is understood that the meeting at the Ansley hotel during the holidays will be entirely informal, and will simply be a tentative gathering of Hoosiers for the purpose of ascertaining sentiment on the subject of the new club and to possibly cho e officers to serve during one year.

AUTO BEARING TWO WOMEN JAMMED BY CARS IN RUSH HOUR

A handsome touring car, the property of R. G. King, of 99 Alta avenue, was jammed in a crush of traffic and trolley cars at Alabama and Whitehall street last night during the heavy rush at 6 o'clock.

The car was occupied by Mrs. R. G. King and Mrs. Harry Perkerson, of 61 Ponce de Leon place, and was driven by a negro chauffeur. The damage was slight, although traffic was impeded for several minutes during the extrication of the machine from the trolley cars.

A Peachtree to Brookwood car, which had stopped at the Alabama street corner on Whitehall, was followed by a Pine street car, driven by Motorman W. P. Rowe, of 79 Piedmont avenue. The rails were exceedingly slippery on account of the drizzling rain. As Motorman Rowe applied his brakes the trolley slid into the rear of the automobile, jamming it into the forward trolley. No cases were made.

GROSSMAN TELLS OF WASHINGTON MEETING

The Atlanta Equal Suffrage association held their regular bi-monthly meeting in the Hotel Ansley Wednesday at 3 o'clock p. m. Mrs. Amelia Woodall, president of the association, presided.

After the regular business had been disposed of, the members had the pleasure of hearing the message from the national convention, held in Washington, D. C., last week. The delegate to this convention was L. J. Grossman, general counsel for the Georgia Woman's Suffrage association. He brought a message of much encouragement from the national headquarters.

Mrs. Mary L. McLendon, president of the Georgia association, was to have addressed the meeting also, but was prevented by illness.

SEEK LONGER HOLIDAY FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

A effort will be made this afternoon at the meeting of the board of education to get an earlier holiday for the pupils of the Atlanta public schools. The holiday, as announced, does not begin until Christmas eve, which is greatly to the disappointment of the children, who are anxious for a few days in which to prepare for the coming of St. Nicholas.

The teachers are declared to be supporting the children in their request for an earlier holiday, saying that their minds are so taken up with thoughts of Christmas that they cannot do justice to their studies, and that they might as well have a little extra time for buying their gifts.

School is scheduled to begin on the first Monday in January, giving the pupils only a ten-day vacation.

Bazar at Second Baptist.

The Sunday school class of Mrs. William H. Hillyer will hold a bazar and spelling bee at the Second Baptist church at 8 o'clock tonight and Friday night. The public has been cordially invited.

Conspicuous Nose Pores

How to reduce them

Wring a cloth from very hot water, lather it with Woodbury's Facial Soap, then hold it to your face. When the heat has expanded the pores, rub in very gently a fresh lather of Woodbury's. Repeat this hot water and lather application several times, stopping at once when your nose feels sensitive. Then finish by rubbing the nose for a few minutes with a lump of ice.

Woodbury's Facial Soap cleanses the pores. This treatment with it strengthens the muscular fibres of the nose pores so that they can contract properly. But do not expect to change in a week a condition resulting from years of neglect. Use this treatment persistently. It will gradually reduce the enlarged pores until they are inconspicuous.

Get Woodbury's and try this treatment tonight. Try Woodbury's also for general toilet use. See what a delightful feeling it gives your skin.

CAUTION!

The great popularity of the clean, pure, healthful WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT is causing unscrupulous persons to wrap rank imitations that are not even real chewing gum so they resemble genuine WRIGLEY'S. The better class of stores will not try to fool you with these imitations. They will be offered to you principally by street fakirs, peddlers and the candy departments of some 5 and 10 cent stores. These rank imitations cost dealers one cent a package or even less and are sold to careless people for almost any price. If you want Wrigley's look before you buy. Get what you pay for.

Be SURE it's Wrigley's

We are inserting the above caution solely to protect our customers, who are continually writing us that they have been deceived by imitations which they purchased thinking they were WRIGLEY'S.

Basket Shop Is Raided

Automobiles and Street Cars Help. People Rush to Get Bargains.

Wholesale Closing Out of Basket Shop Creates Furore.

This Christmas season has brought out nothing as sensational among Atlanta shoppers as the sudden necessity of The Basket Shop to quit the retail business. It has brought the family buyer and Christmas gift seekers to our shop by the thousands. Basketware is being sold at this sale at ridiculously low prices—absolutely at factory cost.

In fact, many items are going at less than cost, because we must make room to enlarge our output for the wholesale trade by January 1st.

Positively this is your last chance to buy from us, direct from our own factory. January 1st we begin to fill wholesale orders to dealers, and our goods can then only be purchased through the dealer.

Everybody come today. The sooner we're cleaned out the better we'll like it. Everything goes.

MAY NOT PLAY OFF POST SEASON GAMES

Company G and Horse Guard Teams Are Now Tied Up on Technicalities.

The post-season games which were to be played between Company G and the Governor's Horse Guard for the championship of the Atlanta National Guard basketball league, may not be played. It was arranged to play the first game on Friday night of this week, the second one on Tuesday, December 23, and the third on December 31.

At a meeting Wednesday night, of R. V. Anderson, president of the league, Ogie Grice, secretary of the league, H. C. Ashford, manager of the Governor's Horse Guard team, and Hugh Mauck, of the Company G team, it developed that certain differences of opinion prevailed, and that technical reasons would probably cause the post-season games to be abandoned.

The Governor's Horse Guard "regulars" originally had seven players. Only these were entitled to play on the "regular" team. Of these, three are not now able to play. Weaver has become a member of the Atlanta Athletic club's team and A. Jones, the former captain of the team, had his nose and left arm broken in the latest game, and will be unable to play again this season. Baker is unable to play, owing to his business.

Only Four on Regulars.

Four men remain on the "regulars" and it takes five to constitute a team. The Horse Guard manager wished to add to the Governor's Horse Guard team the following men, who played with the team known as the Governor's Horse Guard "specials:" H. Graves, O. Grice, K. Grice and Reynolds. This was opposed by the representative of the Company G team. He is quoted as saying that he wished to select from the "specials" two men himself to go on the "regular's" squad.

As the situation now exists, the Horse Guard team has four men only, and cannot play with that number. So for the present the games seem to be off.

Company G also refused to play unless the players on the Horse Guard team were registered in the A. A. U. This will take a few days' time, but the Horse Guard team agreed to register, so as to comply with G's wishes.

"G" Won First.

When these teams met some weeks ago Company G won by a three-point margin, and their representative at the meeting stated that in playing post-season games they had everything to lose and nothing to gain.

As the matter now stands, the league is without a champion team, as the constitution provides that a post-season series shall be played, and until it is played, the championship will not be decided.

AUGUSTA QUINTET PLAY HERE SATURDAY

Reports have reached Atlanta from Augusta to the effect that the Young Men's Christian association basketball team of that city, which meets the Atlanta Athletic club team here Saturday night, is the strongest that has represented Augusta in years.

Augusta always has a representative team composed of experienced players who have been at the game for sometime. This year's team has a smattering of veterans of last year's team and an infusion of new blood that is working to the good of the team as a whole.

This will be the third game of the local basketball season, the Atlanta Athletic club defeating Bessemer Athletic club and the Chattanooga Tigers thus far this season.

O'HEAR NAMED CAPTAIN OF CORNELL ELEVEN

Ithaca, N. Y., December 17.—Rumors that John E. O'Hear, of Brookline, Mass., Cornell's star right end, who sustained an eye injury in the Harvard game and was precented from playing the rest of the season, would have to give up football forever, were dispelled tonight when he was chosen captain of the 1914 Cornell football team.

QUERIES ANSWERED

Under this head, the sporting editor will endeavor to answer all questions pertaining to all branches of sports.

1. Why did Little Rock and Shreveport drop out of the Southern League? 2. Is there any possibility of Slim Love being with the Crackers next season. W. C.

1. Lack of patronage and to make the circuit more compact. 2. There is a possibility, but it is not probable.

AMERICAN BASEBALL TOO COMMERCIALIZED

Australian Cricket Star Does Not Like Way Game Is Conducted Here.

San Francisco, December 17.—Baseball as played in America is severely criticised by a member of the Australian cricket team, which recently toured the United States and Canada. A Sidney paper containing an interview with the crickster on the return of the team to Australia has just been received here.

"Candidly," the Australian athlete is quoted, "I don't like baseball as played in America. Baseball in Australia is a fine game, played in the spirit of our cricket. But that spirit is not known in American baseball, which is a professional game and associated with bluffing of a character foreign to the Australian and English ideas of sport. There is, of course, big money in it there, but if baseball is ever to become a big game here, it will need to be divorced from the spirit which pervades its American atmosphere."

CAREY AMBITIOUS

Pirate Outfielder After the World's Record.

Pittsburg, December 17.—Max Carey's quest for more worlds to conquer next year in the base stealing line probably will be successful if the fleet-footed outfielder of the Pirates only starts his pilfering proclivities earlier in the year. The past season Max was credited with annexing 61 stolen sacks, a mighty good performance when it is recalled that the National leage has sane, accurate catchers and a large number of left-handed pitchers to watch first base.

Carey has shown that he is one of the fastest men that ever wore spikes, and today he is not far behind Clyde Milan, of the Washington club. But there is one thing that holds Max back from hanging up a record. That is his failure to show form during the first two or three months of the season. In April, May, June and sometimes July Carey hardly steals more than 25 bases all told. Then suddenly he comes like a house afire and makes up for lost time.

It is to be hoped that Max succeeds in bettering his 1913 mark, but he certainly will have to realize that stolen bases in the early part of the campaign count just as much as in the home stretch.

Much Interest Manifested In Cross-Country Run at Georgia Tech on Saturday

Much interest is being manifested in the cross-country run that will be held at Tech Saturday afternoon, starting at 3:30 o'clock.

The race will be a team event this year, four teams having been entered from the student residents of the three dormitories at the school, and the students who reside in the city. The Swanns, the Knowles, the Shacks and the city boys will be the four teams and there will be a handsome prize for the team that has the most number of men finishing nearest the first at the finish.

The trophy will be given as a three-year affair and the dormitory that wins the trophy three times will have it for their permanent property.

A handsome trophy will be awarded to the runner that wins the race. The second and third men will receive suitable prizes. In addition to these prizes, the next twenty men to finish will receive cakes baked by the wives of the members of the faculty.

The course will be the same as in former years, start at the school buildings, to the water works and return.

DOGS SHOWING FORM IN THE FIELD TRIALS

Montgomery, Ala., December 17.—The first annual derby of the National Field Trials club was completed today, and dog fanciers tonight are jubilant over the fact that the winners are showing such consistent form in the past two weeks. The first and second dogs in the derby completed today were the first and second dogs in the Southern Field Trials club contest held over the same courses last week. The winners of the derby as announced tonight are: Willie J., handled by Garr, first money; Happy Medium, handled by Lockhart, second; Louisiana Duke, handled by Fishel, third.

The continuation of the all-age stake today brought that contest down to six dogs which will compete for the money tomorrow, closing the meet. These dogs will run as follows: John Proctor with Melrose Mohawk, Powhattan with DeSoto Frank, Pitchford Roy with Babblebrook Joe.

The sport today was pronounced the best of the past two weeks, with birds plentiful. The work of Louisiana Duke, third in the derby, was especially commended, while enthusiasts are closely following DeSoto Frank in the finals of the all-age stake tomorrow, because of his remarkable showing in the same stake of the Southern club's trials last week. The crowds have been excellent and tomorrow is expected to be the banner day.

"CAP OTTO" SIGNS TO LEAD DALLAS

Former Cracker Captain and Manager to Control Destinies of Texas League Club Next Season.

Otto Jordan, former captain and manager of the Crackers and more recently manager of the Valdosta team of the Empire State league, that won the pennant the first half of the season in that league, has signed to manage the Dallas team in the Texas league during the coming campaign.

OTTO JORDAN,
Former Cracker manager, who will manage Dallas, in the Texas league, next season.

Jordan and the Dallas club owners came to terms Monday afternoon.

Prince Otto says that the prospects at Dallas for the coming season are pretty good. He has been left a pretty fair nucleus to work with and has started to work to fill in the gaps left by sales and drafts.

Jordan's former Southern league connection will make it possible for him to get some players from this league. The good wishes of every Atlanta fan will go with Jordan in his new berth.

Jordan made the announcement of his new berth yesterday upon his return from Pittsburg, where he has been spending the fall months hunting.

CRAIG SURPASSES CHARLEY BRICKLEY EXCEPT WITH TOE

Charles Brickley, Harvard's demon toe artist, was not the best all-round back in the country, eliminating the kicking feature of the game, according to Fielding H. Yost. This honor rightly belongs to Jimmy Craig, Michigan's contribution to Walter Camp's all-American football team. Considering all points with the exception of drop kicking, in which Brickley is supreme, Craig is a more valuable man, declares the Michigan coach.

"I saw the Harvard-Yale game, and, although Brickley is a great all-round player, I don't think he compares with Craig. Brickley is a fair tackler, but not a fierce one, while Craig hits his man as hard as any player in the country and is one of the surest tacklers I have ever seen. When he hits a runner around the knees he throws him with such a jar that it usually takes all the spice out of him for the rest of the afternoon.

"Craig, although he weighs but 160 pounds, is also a better blocker than Brickley. In intercepting forward passes I have never seen his equal, and what he can do in shooting through quick openings in the line and circling ends need not be dwelt upon. As far as scoring points goes, Brickley's toe makes him more valuable, but otherwise I wouldn't trade Craig for Brickley or any other back in the country. Craig played wonderful football this year and was far better than last season or 1911."

LITTLE LEONA BEGS DEAR SANTA CLAUS NOT TO FORGET HER

Washington, December 17.—When Santa Claus makes his rounds in Jersey City this Christmas he surely will not forget to visit the home of little Leona, who has written him a pathetic little plea. She addressed the letter "in care Mr. Tumulty, President Wilson's head man."

"Dear Sandy Claus: Mother says that you won't call to us this Christmass," little Leona wrote, "as we are too poor for you to get down to 272 Washington street, as you won't have anything left when you leave the Hill, so dear Sandy Claus, try and save me a big doll and a Big Karrage for it to ride in and anything you like, Sandy dear you can bring.

"Our stocking will be hung up in the basement. Will leave the window open for you as the chimery is to smal for you to come down. We all wish you a merry Chrismass and a happy new year. Good Mister Sandy Claus, don't forget and come, and come Sandy Claus to us three children. We live in the basement."

The little appeal was enclosed in a letter to Secretary Tumulty asking to be excused for addressing him, as mother says "you are always bussy" but "mother is out of work."

NO WHOLESALE GRAFT IN BUYING SUPPLIES

Washington, December 17.—An investigation committee appointed by Secretary McAdoo today completed a report repudiating charges of wholesale graft in the purchase of government supplies, involving many millions of dollars. Byron R. Newton, assistant secretary of the treasury, is chairman of the committee, which inquired into every phase of government supply contracting.

It was said at the treasury department that the investigation was ordered as a result of sweeping allegations by disappointed bidders for contracts, who, as soon as Mr. McAdoo assumed office, began to besiege him with complaints.

The committee will report several minor errors in the awarding of contracts by a purchasing committee, with the comment that the number of mistakes has been remarkably small considering the immense amount of work transacted.

TINKER AND EBBETS TO HOLD CONFERENCE

Tinker Is Willing to Go to Brooklyn if He's Sure to Get That $10,000.

Chicago, December 17.—Joseph Tinker, deposed manager of the Cincinnati ball club, soon will meet Charles Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn club, to decide whether he will become a member of the Brooklyn club. Tinker today received a letter from Ebbets asking the shortstop to meet him within five days. Tinker replied that he was willing to meet the Brooklyn club owner, but no date was set.

Tinker is willing to play with Brooklyn if the $10,000 it was stipulated he was to receive from the sale by Cincinnati is in such shape that he is sure to get it. Tinker also stipulated that he must receive a three years' contract providing for a satisfactory salary.

"If the bonus is really meant for me, and the contract is satisfactory, I will agree to play with Brooklyn," Tinker said.

Deal Not Yet Promulgated.

New York, December 17.—Cincinnati's sale of Joe Tinker, shortstop and ex-manager, to the Brooklyn club, has not yet been officially recognized by the National league. President John K. Tener's announcement today of the latest contracts and releases contains no mention of the $25,000 deal between Herrmann and Ebbets, although the Pittsburg-St. Louis and New York-Cincinnati trades that helped to furnish a sensation at the league's annual meeting last week, are all approved.

John A. Heydler, secretary of the league, explained tonight that the Tinker deal was not promulgated because no word had been received from Herrmann that his former manager had been sold to Brooklyn. Ebbets notified the league's officers, but a deal cannot be approved until both sides have been heard from, Heydler said.

BOY SCOUTS TO HOLD BIG TOURNAMENT

Nine troops, aggregating about two hundred Boy Scouts, are to give a big tournament, the first of its kind ever given in the south, at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Motordrome.

The tournament is not to be an athletic meeting, in the ordinary sense of the word. The contests are to be in the things taught the Boy Scouts—tent-pitching, signaling by wigwag and field wireless, bugle calls, drum corps work, special drills and first aid relief work.

A handsome silver cup has been offered to the winning troop, and there is plenty of rivalry among the various commands.

DEXHEIMER NAMED MOCCASIN LEADER

Chattanooga, Tenn., December 17—(Special.)—Halfback Paul Dexheimer, '15, Chattanooga High school graduate and all around athlete, was last night elected captain of the 1914 University of Chattanooga eleven. Sutherland, the Moccasins' fast little end, and another Chattanooga High graduate, ran the halfback a close race for the honor. Both players will be seniors next year.

CLEVELAND WILL NOT JOIN THE FEDERALS

Cleveland, Ohio, December 17.—Cleveland will not be in the Federal baseball league for the season of 1914 unless something unforeseen develops, it was revealed today when Charles X. Zimmerman, former president of the local club, and still a member of the board of directors, said the club had absolutely failed to secure new grounds for the coming year, without which they will be obliged to surrender their franchise. The old park is deemed unsuitable.

JOHNSON TO WELCOME WORLD'S TOURISTS BACK

Chicago, December 17.—President Ban B. Johnson, of the American league, and a party of Chicago baseball enthusiasts will travel to New York on a special train next March to welcome back to this country the world-touring Chicago White Sox and New York Giants, according to plans announced today.

The party will leave here March 5, arriving in New York next day in time to meet the tourists upon their arrival. That night, on the eve of the American league meeting, the players will be tendered a banquet.

BAKER WAS CREMATED BENEATH AUTOMOBILE

Binghamton, N. Y., December 17.—The charred body of George H. Baker, aged forty-one, a well-known business man and son of a former state railroad commissioner, today was found lying beneath the burned remnants of his touring car, a short distance from this city.

Baker left Oswego last night to visit his sister in this city and started for home about 4 o'clock this morning. It is supposed his machine jumped the road, overturned and pinned him beneath.

Hotel Strike at Cleveland.

Cleveland, Ohio, December 17.—All union employees at the three local hotels affected by the waiters' strike were called out on a sympathy strike tonight. About 100 workers are concerned, the hotel managers say, while strike officials claim 150 is the correct number. One hundred and fifty waiters already were out. Practically the same conditions prevailed in the three hotels today as obtained yesterday.

EUGENIC WEDDING LAW KNOCKED BY DOCTORS

Alleged Wisconsin Measure Requires Too Much Work for Too Little Money.

Milwaukee, Wis., December 17.—The demand for a physical examination for which several months would be required if it were properly done—and not the small fee of $3 for a physician's certificate—is given as the principal reason for opposition to Wisconsin's new eugenic marriage law in a statement made today by a well known Milwaukee physician.

"The examination, according to the demand of the law for 'physical examination and the application of recognized clinical and laboratory "tests," says the statement, 'would involve at least four Wasserman tests extending over four months, each of which would absolutely cost, if properly done, from $10 to $15, after which a Noguchi test would be necessary and even if both these tests were found negative it would still be necessary to puncture the spinal cord, draw out some of the spinal fluid, and make a Wasserman test of that.

"This test being negative, if the physician went to the limit of scientific 'search,' he would be obliged to make a hole in the skull of the applicant, remove a portion of his brain, smear it upon a glass slide, stain it and examine microscopically for the trepanoma pallida, which is the cause of the malady feared.

"Besides this all spinal reflexes would have to be tested, all bones of the body examined as well as the joints. The liver, eyes and throat must undergo a severe and careful examination and if all this were done it would require at least six months to do it and it would be impossible then ever for the most skilful physician to state positively that the applicant was entirely free from the disease.

"In the case of other diseases the examination would involve a series of microscopical tests and examinations and such an examination would require unusual skill and a period of at least three months."

1914 Overland $950

People, by their expenditure of over a hundred million dollars for Overland automobiles, have thus shown their approval of a car so signally successful that the enterprise which built them has no parallel in industrial history.

Our aim is not to attain mere cheapness.

Such a car as the Overland cannot be produced cheaply. We can SELL the Overland at $950—less than it costs other manufacturers to MAKE a car of similar quality—because no other car of similar value is produced in such large quantity.

BROYLES GOING AFTER ALLEGED BLIND TIGERS

Beavers States He Will Furnish Information to Council's Police Committee.

Proof of Judge Nash. R. Broyes' position in the police war upuon the liquor trade was shown in police court yesterday afternoon, when Ed J. Nunn, a traveling salesman, was fined $100 or thirty days and bound over under $500 bond for an alleged sale of whisky to a "stool pigeon."

Assistant Police Chief Jett, Desk Sergeant G. C. Bullard and a large number of police officials appeared in court to testify to the prisoner's good character and standing. When the trial had finished, the recorder stated:

"This man's character has been shown to be good, and I will be as light as possible under the circumstances. Liquor traffic, however, must go from Atlanta, and I am going to do my share toward promoting the fight against it."

Nunn Is Traveling Man.

It was alleged in court that a witness had obtained an amount of whisky from Nunn in the rear of a business establishment at 157½ Whitehall street recently. Nunn is a traveling salesman for an electric concern, and his home is in Atlanta, where he is widely known.

Many moves were made in the liquor war yesterday, chief of which was the announcement by Chief James L. Beavers to the police committee of council that upon its meeting at the first of the year he would furnish them with the results of his investigations into the locker clubs.

The cases against seven clubs which were made recently will be heard in recorder's court on the day before Christmas.

Grand Jury May Act.

The Fulton county grand jury is expected to bring action against some of the local locker clubs, according to rumor on Wednesday.

"The matter of the raids on the clubs by the city police only aids any investigation we might undertake in regard to the locker club situation," said Assistant Solicitor General Stephens.

"In fact, any evidence brought out by the police court hearing of the arrested locker club superintendents is so much grist to our mill. However, I am not saying that there will be any action taken by the grand jury on the locker club situation."

ECZEMA ON BABY'S HEAD AND FACE

Reedy, W. Va. — "My baby boy when three weeks old took the eczema on the head and face. It broke out in pimples and first they looked like blisters and a yellow water would run from them. His head was perfectly raw and his hair was all gone. Everybody said he would never have any more hair. As the sores spread his hair came out. The breaking out itched so badly that we had to keep gloves on his hands to keep him from scratching his head and face. It caused disfigurement. He couldn't rest at night it burned and itched so badly.

"He was treated for eight months and he got worse all the time. So I decided to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. We first washed the sores with the Cuticura Soap and covered them with the Cuticura Ointment mornings and at bedtime. We kept a thin cloth and cap on his head. In two months he was completely cured after using the Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) G. A. Dye, Jan. 7, 1912.

Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold everywhere. A single set is often sufficient. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

MISS BALL RECOVERS FROM HER ILLNESS

Miss Elise Ball, who was carried to Grady hospital shortly before midnight Tuesday, was released early yesterday afternoon upon her recovery, and has gone to the home of relatives in the city.

She was found in a swooning state in the bathroom of her aparements at 81 East Cain street. Other residents of the boarding place at that address stated to a Constitution reporter last night that her condition was due to a large dose of calomel which she had taken for a slight illness, and that it was not due to escaping gas as was reported.

She rallied quickly at the hospital, and is now out of danger. The many friends of Miss Ball will be pleased at her early recovery.

B. R. T. WILL GIVE BALL ON NEW YEAR'S EVE

Preparations are being made for the first annual ball of Georgia Lodge, No. 866, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, which is to be given at the Kimball house ballroom on New Year's eve.

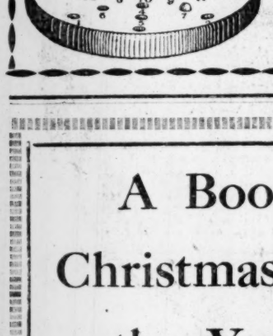

This will be the first of a series of entertainments to be given during the winter by the lodge. All the trots, tangos and latest dances will be allowed at the ball, and a general good time will be in order.

The committee on arrangements is composed of E. Walter Tripp, chairman; W. H. Brewer, M. J. Martin, C. F. Allan, E. M. DeVour and Z. T. Layfield. The price of admission will be $1 for gentlemen, and ladies will be admitted free. The proceeds are to be given to the charity fund.

Little Activity in Courts.

Activity in county court circles is nearly at a standstill on account of the fact that the fiscal year is being cleared up and no important sessions of any of the branches of the superior court will be held until after January 1.

On Wednesday both the old city hall and the Thrower building were all but deserted. There was little activity even in the offices of the clerks of the various courts.

COTTON GOES INTO NEW LOW GROUND

General Liquidation Caused the Decline—Rally in the Afternoon Recovered Some of the Loss—Spot Quiet.

New York, December 17.—The cotton market was again very nervous and unsettled. Continued talk of large ginning returns and reports that spinners were showing very little interest in the matter of fresh purchases seemed largely responsible for a renewal of general liquidation or bear pressure, which sent prices into new low ground for the movement.

Later, however, there was a good deal of covering, while there was also some talk of buying against spinners' callings and prices rallied some 8 or 10 points from the lowest, with the close steady at a net decline of 2 to 7 points. January contracts sold at 12.26 on the midday break, or just about 75 points under the high price reached shortly after the publication of the government's crop estimate last Friday and approximately $8 per bale under the high level of the season.

Relatively steady cables and reports that there had been very little hedge selling in Liverpool encouraged a renewal of yesterday's covering movement during the early trading. There may also have been some buying on overnight reports of steady interior spot markets and private cables claiming a better business in Manchester and after opening steady at an advance of 1 to 3 points, the market sold about 6 to 8 points net higher.

This reflected a rally of 16 to 18 points from the low level of Tuesday morning, which appeared sufficient to bring out increased offerings from bearish sources, while after the close of Liverpool had shut out straddle buying, the support was less active. The market weakened consequently and the selling became more general and aggressive as prices worked lower. Stop orders were uncovered on a scale down, particularly just under the low point reached on yesterday's break, and before the decline was checked active months were selling 14 to 19 points net lower.

Reports that southern holders were not following the decline in futures and a feeling that the technical position of the market had been weakened by the heavy liquidation noted since the opening last Saturday, then seemed to inspire an increased demand from recent sellers, while there was also a little buying from trade sources and some trading for a reaction.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, December 17.—A bulge shortly after the opening followed by a sharp break featured price changes in the cotton market today. In the early hours the market had a very good tone and bulls displayed considerable confidence in their ability to bring about a reaction from the decline. Gossip of the market said that it was oversold and sold out, but after the close of the Liverpool market more cotton was offered than the ring could absorb, and a break resulted.

Liverpool stood better than due when the American markets opened and sent over a large volume of buying orders. As long as this buying lasted prices were well maintained, but when it ceased, the market fell off. Private cable message from England stated that Manchester business was improving.

The market opened steady at an advance of 3 to 6 points on the good cables and reports of heavy rains in the western belt overnight. Shorts were inclined to buy covers in the early trading and this was a decided help to the market. At the highest, the trading months were 10 to 11 points up. At this level selling orders increased suddenly, and the market did not cease declining until it was 20 to 24 points under the highest levels of the morning. This break put the trading months 10 to 13 points under yesterday's last quotations. In the afternoon the market was dull, but it did better on a quiet demand from shorts, who wanted their profits. The close was steady at a net gain for the day of 1 to 5 points.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, December 17.—The sentiment of the cotton market continues very bearish and for the time being cotton looks a sale on all hard spots. If selling continues, however, in the same volume as for the last few days the market is going to become so oversold that an advance will be forced—that is providing that the southern spot holders sit tight and do not rush the actual cotton on the market all at once. March cotton was forced below 12½ today, but this brought out buying and the close was steady at a net decline of 5 to 6 points on the active months.

Liverpool is due to come unchanged to 2 points down.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, December 17.—Another decline in prices today took the market to the lowest level on the break and brought spot prices dangerously below a parity with southern markets. Apart from this position of our market and the tendency of operators to halt after the recent shrinkage nothing of interest is noted in the outlook. The improvement after the lowest prices (January 13.26) to the close was due to short covering and some buying which may be called experimental based on the idea that a reaction must be due. A sharper decline on later deliveries has been looked for on the touchings of stop orders, but holdings now seem well protected. With our market below the south and with recent sellers becoming buyers the market closes at only a moderate recession from yesterday. There seems no encouragement from general trade circles.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, December 17.—Although cables from Liverpool today were firm in tone, reporting improved business at Manchester, heavy liquidation again occurred here, causing prices to decline 22 points. The selling was heavy and general in character. At the decline, spot interests and Liverpool bought freely and finally stopped the decline. The market failed to recover to any extent, owing to a steady supply being offered at small advances.

London Stock Market.

London, December 17.—Consols provided the feature in the dealings on the stock exchange today. The price fell seven-sixteenths to a new low record owing to the continued offering of new issues. British consols registered a new low level record here today when they were quoted at 71⅛ for cash and 71 5-16 for the account. The decline in the premier security of the London stock exchange is attributed to the ceaseless stream of new issues with attractive yields to which holders of consols are transferring their money. The immediate cause of today's low record was the announcement of a Grand Trunk Pacific issue within a few days of $10,000,000 of seven-year five per cent notes at 97. This brings the total of Canadian issues during the months of November and December to $95,000,000.

Brazilian rails were again offered freely, but the other sections were inclined to harden, especially Griffiths, on covering operations. The closing was steady, with consols an eighth over the lowest.

American securities opened steady and a fraction higher and advanced during the forenoon under the lead of the Pacific shares. Later Wall street buying supported the list and the market finished with a cheerful tone.

Money was in fair supply and discount rates were firmer.

PRICES OF WHEAT BECAME EASIER

Showing of the Government of Increased Acreage Favored the Bears—Corn Closed Higher.

Chicago, December 17.—Because the acreage estimate in the government report today turned out to be larger than expected, wheat prices eased off somewhat, though not nearly as much as the news appeared to suggest. The close was steady at the same as last night to ⅛@¼ down. Corn made a net gain of ⅛ to ⅜, oats finished unchanged to a sixteenth higher and provisions up a shade to 7½.

Previous to announcement of the government figures, the wheat market seemed inclined to favor the bulls. Reasons for the firmness comprised higher cable quotations, continued light receipts northwest and fear of a crop scare in the winter wheat belt. Wet weather emphasized the complaints of rank growth in many fall sown fields. Good judges said the bearish showing of the government report would have had much greater effect, but for the excessive development of the wheat plant during the abnormally mild weather last month. The unusual chance of serious injury in case of a sudden hard freeze tended to make speculators wary and averted an otherwise probable determined attack by shorts.

Corn displayed strength from the start. Shorts were uneasy over a prediction of rough weather and because of a falling off in offers from interior dealers, especially in Iowa and Illinois.

Although business in oats proved light, the market was steadied by the corn bulge.

Aggressive buying of ribs lifted the provision market, notwithstanding that the receipts of hogs were considered to be above current needs. The purchasing of ribs was credited, in the main, to a leading packer.

Gen. Pancho Villa and His Staff of Officers

General Pancho Villa and his grimy battalions of rebels have but one thought in mind—"Mexico City next!" Their plan of campaign is to proceed toward the capital by railroad train as far as possible, and complete the trip by forced marches. General Villa says no quarter will be given to any federal officers captured, following General Carranza's instructions. Reinforcements reached Chihuahua for Villa, and, with plenty of guns and ammunition, he says there is not the slightest doubt that he will capture the capital and serve Christmas dinner to his staff of officers in the historic castle and fortress of Chapultepec.

FINANCIAL PANIC CAUSING TROUBLE

taining orders or money for the troops. He now has nine other generals here.

Should Mercado attack or surround Chihuahua, where General Francisco Villa and the main body of rebels is fortified, he would check any rebel activity toward Torreon, directly south.

Federal officers had information that federal troops were moving toward Chihuahua from Torreon and that the return of General Mercado was ordered in conformity with orders from Mexico City for an advance on Chihuahua from two directions.

Villa Will Go Southward.

Juarez, Mexico, December 17.—Despite General Mercado's statement at Ojinaga that the federals would attempt to recapture Chihuahua, General Bonavides, rebel commander at Juarez, said today that the rebels were preparing for an active campaign southward.

"It was General Villa's intention after reaching Chihuahua to carry the campaign southward and that intention has not been abandoned," General Bonavides said. "Already 2,000 rebels are near Ojinaga. If the federals attempt to march from the border they will be attacked."

That he does not intend to restore the property of foreigners who participated in the revolution and that he considered the expelled Spaniards as having so participated was the justification given by General Villa for confiscating property in Chihuahua. He said that in expelling the Spaniards in a body he was acting according to the position taken by General Carranza, with whom he was in full accord. Those who had taken part in the internal affairs of the country, he said, whether foreigners or not, would have to suffer the same consequences as Mexican citizens, but he would protect all neutral foreigners.

TWO AMERICANS FOUND BY REBEL COMMANDER

Hermosillo, Sonora, Mexico, December 17.—General Rafael Bulna, constitutionalist commander in the territory of Tepic, reported tonight to General Carranza that he had accounted for E. S. Windham and William Dunn, two Americans, for whose safety the state department had expressed concern.

General Bulna said Windham is in Mazatlan, which is in the hands of the federals, and that Dunn is ill in Acaponeta. It had been reported that the insurgents were holding both men for ransom.

AMERICANS ARE SAFE WHERE VILLA RULES

Washington, December 17.—Reassurance as to the safety of Americans in Chihuahua conveyed today by Consul Letcher immediately upon the reopening of telegraphic communication between that city and El Paso, came as a relief to the administration here. Washington officials had been of the opinion that the stories emanating from refugees and federal partisans to the effect that Americans and other foreigners in Chihuahua were being subjected to gross mistreatment by the constitutionalists were without foundation, but in the absence of any official information on the subject it had been impossible to convey definite assurance to the many anxious inquirers alarmed for the safety of their relatives and friends.

So far Consul Letcher has forwarded to the state department no reply from General Villa to its representations regarding the treatment of the Spanish residents of Chihuahua, but it is assumed that the consul has not found it easy to communicate quickly with the rebel general owing to his military activety along the extended line of the constitutionalist army. Little doubt is felt than General Villa will heed the admonitions of the department and extend proper treatment to the Spaniards as well as to other foreigners. In this connection department officials deprecate the demonstrations in favor of Huerta, which are said to have been made by the Spanish element on the American side of the border.

Americans and the whole foreign colony at Tampico are now enjoying a period of quite after the exciting events of the past week, but their peace of mind is marred by the news that four thousand constitutionalists are encamped within twenty miles of the town and may renew their attack upon the federal defenses as soon as they can replenish their store of ammunition. There is likely to be little change in the disposition of the vessels of the American fleet near Tampico for the present.

REBELS ARE OPERATING NEAR MEXICAN CAPITAL

Mexico City, December 17.—Rebels who have penetrated the federal district and who yesterday clashed with federal troops at Milpa Alta and San Lorenzo, are said to be accompanied and directed by Emiliano Zapata. Felipe Neri and Genevevo De La O, two other southern rebel leaders, are reported nearby and in daily communication with Zapata.

General Zapata is alleged to have taken possession of Nepanpa ranch, a few miles from Milpa Alta. At one time this property was a favorite resting place of General Porfirio Diaz.

According to government reports received at the capital today a further rout was administered to the rebels at San Lorenzo yesterday. After the engagement the followers of Zapata took refuge in the rough country at the base of Mount Ajusco, twenty miles south of Mexico City.

AMERICAN TORTURED BEFORE HIS FAMILY

San Francisco, December 17.—Passengers arriving here on the Pacific mail steamer San Jose yesterday added fresh chapters to the stories of violence, pillage and demoralization in Mexico as a result of the rebellion.

James B. Sexton, of Minneapolis, a mining man who has been at Tepic for the last year, told of the murder of Juan Edson, a young Californian. Sexton said Edson was slain on his ranch near Tepic by a band of Corra Indians, who tortured him in the presence of his wife and children. Afterward they looted the hacienda.

According to Sexton robber bands have not confined their depredations to the property of the natives. The store of Adolph Ludeke, a German merchant of Acaponeta, was looted of merchandise valued at $40,000.

When the bandits appeared Ludeke hoisted the German flag on the roof of his store as a warning. The bandits, however, tore down the flag and trampled it underfoot.

FEW FOREIGNERS LEFT IN CHIHUAHUA CITY

Juarez, Mexico, December 17.—United States Consul Letcher at Chihuahua telegraphed to Consul Edwards today that almost all foreigners had left Chihuahua and that the city was quiet.

Luis Terrazas, Jr., is still held a prisoner by Villa. The avowed purpose is to compel the Terrazas family to pay a large sum of money for his release. Villa asserts the Terrazas succeeded in taking much of their cash and securities to the United States before the rebels arrived and it is his plan to hold Luis, Jr., until $250,000 or more is sent back.

STORIES OF OUTRAGE DENIED BY GEN. VILLA

Hermosillo, Sonora, Mexico, December 17.—General Francisco Villa in a long report received here today by General Carranza, denied that any foreigners were molested in Chihuahua City with the exception of the Spaniards, who were expelled. Villa suggested to the supreme leader of the revolutionists that th Chihuahua stat capital be made his antional provisional capital.

"The foreign consuls asked for guarantees for their countrymen and these were given in full for all except Spanish," General Villa said in his report.

"These, as you know, almost entirely have taken an undue part in the internal struggle of our country, and have put themselves always against the cause of the people, of whom we are the defenders."

General Villa told of the institution of a civil government at Chihuahua City, and of the enlistment of 200 federal soldiers who were sent to Juarez on their own recognizance. In requesting General Carranza to move his military headquarters to Chihuahua, General Villa argued that the state was in the hands of insurgent forces and that its central location would make the move most advantageous.

It is said here that General Carranza had made no decision in the matter, but was considering it. Villa took accasion to reassure the constitutionalist commander-in-chief of the "loyalty and constancy of your most affectionate subordinate."

CONSUMERS CHEATED BY SHORT MEASURES

Lansing, Mich., December 17.—Consumers of almost everything sold by dry measure in the state of Michigan for the last half century have been cheated out of millions of dollars because of short measure. This fact has just been discovered through a ruling of the bureau of standards at Washington.

The standard half bushel, two quart and one quart measures which have been used in Michigan for more than fifty years recently were sent to Washington for inspection and James Helme, state dairy and food commissioner, has been notified all three of them are short measure.

New standard measures will be prepared at once. It is estimated the change will cost the merchants of the state more than $100,000.

THROUGH HOLE IN WALL THEY GAINED FREEDOM

Mobile, Ala., December 17.—A hole discovered in the east wall of the city jail here early this morning was an exist through which George Glover and George E. Stone, alleged swindlers, and Frank Olsen, held for alleged highway robbery, passed to freedom last night. Bricks were pried loose near a window on the second floor of the jail building, and hammocks taken from the cells comprised a rope ladder by which the prisoners lowered themselves to the ground. No other prisoners attempted to escape and did not give the alarm, under alleged threat of death made by Stone.

Stone is charged with having falsely represented himself as an agent of the Aetna Life Insurance company, and has been sought by authorities in Alabama, Mississippi and Florida, who have furnished the Mobile police with warrants. Olsen was arrested recently on a charge of highway robbery, and when arraignd in court attacked and struck his prosecutor.

Glover recently was pardoned from a convict camp. His story of conditions there caused abrogation of the state's contract for leasing of the convicts. Recently he was taken into custody, suspected of embezzling. It was the third time he had been arrested here.

COAST WAS CHANGED BY VOLCANIC JARS

Paris, December 17.—The configuration of the coast of the Island of Ambrim, in the New Hebrides group, was changed on the "dip point" or western side by the volcanic upheavals on December 6, according to cablegrams received by the French colonial office today from the governor of New Caledonia.

Prfevious reports are confirmed relative to the formation of new craters in the island, which is volcanic in origin. The vast lava streams overwhelmed the Presbyterian hospital, which is controlled by the Presbyterian churches of Canada and Australsia, while numerous French and English business houses and cocoa plantations were destroyed.

A heavy rain of cinders and scoria fell continuously for five days. The inhabitants fled from the vicinity and proceeded in canoes to the Presbyterian and Catholic mission stations, where 900 refugees are being cared for. It is believed that no lives were lost.

The New Hebrides are controlled by a joint commission of British and French officials under the supervision of resident comissioners of both nations.

MISS MARGARET WILSON ON CHRISTMAS-GIVING

Washington, December 17.—Miss Margaret Woodrow Wilson, the president's eldest daughter, who is chairman of the Washington committee of the Society for the Prevention of Useless Giving, in a public statement today suggested a plan of useful Christmas giving for local "spugs," which, if adopted in the capital, she said she felt might "alter the whole Christmas spirit all over this mighty and prosperous land." She made it plain that the "spug" movement was directed not solely at useless Christmas giving, but toward the encouragement of useful giving.

Miss Wilson's suggestion was that local "spugs" and others interested in useful giving, either as individuals or in combination, "should find some one person and give him or her a happy Christmas." She furnished the addresses of local charitable societies where lists were carefully investigated and cases that really need help would be supplied.

"If this suggestion could be taken up by spug members," said Miss Wilson, "it would mean the lifting of burdens from many an anxious, careworn, suffering family, not only for one day, but for many days to come. We ask you not to give from a sense of obligation, but to give for the joy of giving and to give where giving is needed."

CHEWING IS BARRED TO THE BOSTON "COPS"

Boston, December 17.—Policemen seeking solace from the monotony of their beats by chewing tobacco or gum must do so "inconspicuously," under new regulations promulgated today by Police Commissioner Stephen O'Meara. They are forbidden to have gum or tobacco in their mouths in "such a manner as to be noticeable." Chewing tooth picks will not be tolerated.

Members of the force are forbidden to attend political rallies or conventions, except when detailed for duty there. When in uniform they must not ride in automobiles other than department cars.

CARDINAL RAMPOLLA MOURNED BY THE POPE

Rome, December 17.—The death of Cardinal Rampolla, former papal secretary of state, was not made known to Pope Pius X until this morning. Cardinal Merry Del Val and Monsignor Giovanni Bressan, the pope's private secretary, went to see his holiness at an early hour intending to break the sad news as gently as possible. But when the pope heard the name of Cardinal Rampolla coupled with the word "indisposition" he grew pale and begged them to tell him the truth without hesitation, as anxiety and uncertainty affected him more than anything else. The two prelates then told him that Rampolla was dead.

The pope issued the following statement:

"Cardinal Rampolla was one of the greatest men in the church. He had become even greater since he retired from state affairs."

His holiness ordered that the highest honors should be paid to the deceased cardinal.

On Sunday evening last, Cardinal Rampolla received Silas McBee and his wife, of New York, and discussed with them the question of bringing about a better understanding among all religious sects.

Cardinal Rampolla was the closest collaborater with Pope Leo XIII in the movement for the re-union of the Christian churches. When Pope Leo was dying a cablegram was received in Rome saying that the American Protestant congregations were praying for his recovery. Cardinal Rampolla took the dispatch immediately to the dying pontiff, who instructed Cardinal Rampolla to write that the message had been a great consolation to him as it had proved that his scheme for the reunion of the churches was not a dream.

MERRY XMAS ABROAD ON AMERICAN MONEY

New York, December 17.—The last of the Christmas mails for foreign lands left New York today. All told, foreigners in New York city sent 496,898 money orders, aggregating $7,775,000 to the folks at home. This is an increase of 68,000 orders and $1,250,000 in money over last year. To Great Britain went $2,000,000; to Italy $1,667,000; to Russia nearly $800,000, and to sixteen other countries sums dwindling to $1,069 in the case of Liberia, recipient of the smallest amount.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

As might be expected from the improvement resulting from the regrading of the street, which is now nearly complete, Whitehall street has taken on marked activity in the last few days, and realty men predict that during the spring months this thoroughfare will be the scene of much trading.

The sale of Nos. 446-8 was announced on Tuesday. Two more sales on Whitehall were announced on Wednesday, these properties being located at Nos. 263-5 and No. 695.

Whitehall Junction Sale.

Otis & Holliday have sold to George R. Browder, an official of the Corrugated Paper company, of Chicago, Nos. 263-5 Whitehall street, for $27,500. This lot faces 63 feet on Whitehall street, extending through to Forsyth street. At this figure the property brought $458 per foot. Two years ago Mrs. Mary L. Ficklin paid $20,000 for same.

Mr. Browder indicates he is prepared to make substantial improvements on the lot as soon as Forsyth and Whitehall are put to the grade already adopted by the city, but not yet executed.

This is the third Whitehall street deal reported this week and shows that the new grade is attracting the attention of investors to that street.

Mr. Browder, as former general freight agent and traffic manager of the Southern railway has been located in several of the most prominent cities of the United States, but has expressed himself as so amazed at Atlanta's growth and her certainty of greatly improved development that he has determined to become interested in this growth in a substantial manner.

To real estate agents the significance of an investment by outsiders, who are well posted on other cities is very far-reaching and confirms their opinion that these outsiders also think Atlanta has just begun to grow.

Two Sales by Petty.

The sale of No. 695 was made by M. L. Petty, who was also the agent who negotiated the deal for Nos. 446-8.

Mr. Petty has sold for P. W. Camp to Prof. J. A. Richardson No. 695 Whitehall street for a consideration of $4,500.

This property is located between Gordon street and Park street. It consists of a two-story, eight-room house on a lot 50x110.

Farm Exchanged.

In the announcement of the sales of Nos. 446-8 the fact was omitted that Mr. Petty was the agent who made the sale. F. C. and Mrs. Salile D. Jones gave the old "Cotton Jones' farm, on the Flint river, in Baker county, as part payment in this deal. The farm had been in the Jones family's possession for more than 75 years, and for a quarter of a century had been famous as the farm always producing the first bale of cotton of each year. The property is improved with about 20 houses and a steamboat landing. It is opposite Baconton.

Important Loan Recorded.

An important loan recorded on Wednesday was that of the Prudential Insurance company of America, upon the Ponce de Leon apartments, the new twelve-story apartment house of the Fulton Properties company, at Peachtree and Ponce de cLon. This loan is for the sum of $225,000, and was negotiated by Charles H. Black, of Turman, Black & Calhoun. The loan is for a period of five years at a 5½ per cent rate of interest.

The Prudential had been out of the loan market for some time, and the fact that it is again making loans in Georgia is taken by realty men as a good omen of the financial situation.

Other Realty Sales.

Forrest & George Adair have sold for Realty Investments to O. H. Jones a parcel, 22x129, on the north side of Edgewood avenue, between Ivy and Courtland streets, for a consideration of $22,000, or at a front foot rate of $1,000. The parcel begins 313 feet east of Ivy street. There is a store on the lot.

A. V. Andrews has sold to T. R. Sawtell Nos. 20 and 24 Cooper street, between Fair street and Woodward avenue, the lot being 100x180, for $7,250.

Peachtree Lease.

The Johnson-Gewinner company has leased to the Pickard & Deans Drug company, a new drug concern, No. 124 Peachtree street, a store space in the McKenzie building. This lease is for a term of five years, and the consideration is $250 per month. Mr. Pickard leaves the Grand pharmacy to make a specialty of the prescription business.

P. BEASLEY IS DEAD; LIVED IN ONE SPOT FOR OVER 100 YEARS

Statesboro, Ga., December 17.—(Special.)—Prigen Beasley, one of the oldest men in Georgia, was buried near his home in this county yesterday afternoon. Mr. Beasley was born in Bulloch county and lived in the same spot for over a hundred years. He was born in a leap year, on February 29, and though he has seen 100 summers, he has had but twenty-five actual birthdays, this date falling every four years. On his one hundredth anniversary he was given a celebration which was attended by 1,500 people.

He was at that time in the best of health and bid fair to see several more anniversaries, but a short time ago he began to fail and the end came rapidly.

He was well known all over this section. He saw Bulloch county when it was no more than a wilderness, and when the only way of travel was by cart, and regular trips were made in this manner to Savannah, where all the trading was done. He was beyond the age limit when the civil war came on, but his sympathies were with the south. He was twice married, and several children and grandchildren survive. Had he lived to see the last of February or first of March, whichever date he claimed as his birthday, he would have been 102 years old.

Dies in Jail, Fulfilling Prediction He Would Never Be Hanged

Gainesville, Ga., December 17.—(Special.)—After having predicted that he would never hang, Jay Smith, a former resident of Hall county, who had for the past few years resided in Alabama City, Ala., where he killed a policeman two years ago, died in the jail at that place Sunday, and the remains were brought to his former home Tuesday morning for interment.

It is alleged that after being arrested for disorderly conduct, Smith killed the policeman that arrested him. He was tried, convicted and sentenced to hang. His case was carried to the supreme court, the latter sustaining the decision of the lower court, and while Smith was awaiting a resentence he died in the jail at that place, presumably from acute indigestion.

Smith was of a prominent family of this county.

Girl Hit by Auto.

Athens, Ga., December 17.—(Special.) Elizabeth, the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Syone, while crossing the street in front of her home, was run over by a big touring car driven by Dr. J. C. Holliday, but was only bruised a little.

MOOSE WILL GIVE FUND OF $100 TO ATLANTA'S POOR

The Loyal Order of Moose, at a meeting last night, in the temporary hall on James street, initiated a class of twenty-five representative Atlantans. At the business session it was voted that a donation of $100 be turned over to The Constitution by the lodge to be distributed during the holidays to the worthy poor of Atlanta. Horace G. Alford, grand organizer for Georgia, stated that the fund would be turned over to The Constitution by a committee consisting of E. F. Bond, R. H. Enzor and Norris.

Mr. Alford leaves Atlanta Thursday to spend the holidays with his family in Birmingham, Ala., but will return after the first of the year to continue his work for the lodge.

NEW FORTY-ROOM HOTEL IS PLANNED FOR ATHENS

Athens, Ga., December 17.—(Special.) A new hotel with forty or fifty rooms is plannned for Athens on a prominent site across the street from the new courthouse and from the present Georgian hotel. Dr. John D. Mell is the owner of the property and leader in the movement, which will be backed by a number of other business men.

A new opera house for Athens is also being talked much this month.

34 STRIKERS MAKING 75,000 PERSONS SUFFER

Pittsburg, Pa., December 17.—Seventy-five thousand persons are inconvenienced and the business of fourteen boroughs in the lower Allegheny Valley is seriously hampered by the strike of thirty-four motormen and conductors in Natrona branch of the West Penn railways. Twenty-five deputy sheriffs and a squad of state troopers are on duty at various points in the strike district, and many arrests of strike sympathizers have been made.

The motormen and conductors walked out almost a week ago, alleging the management would no longer recognize their union, and sporadic attempts to maintain operations on the division almost ceased tonight.

DANIELS EXPOSES REAL "HYSTERICS"

Secretary Says They Are the "Stand-Patters"—So-Called Hysteria Is Termed Real Democracy.

New York, December 17.—"Reactionaries who think to weaken the advocacy of progressive measures by declaring that they are the products of 'hysteria,'" were roundly denounced here tonight by Secretary Daniels, of the navy, in an address at the dinner of the North Carolina society, of New York.

"A few days ago," Mr. Daniels said, "a distinguished educator from a southern state in a speech in New York, declared that such new and progressive measures as the initiative and referendum were 'revolutionary.' Another distinguished authority, a statesman and an educator, referred to certain modern American political doctrines as 'wild theories' which common sense and wise experience demand be rejected 'as the result of hysteria.'

Why They Call It Hysteria.

"The real trouble is that this so-called 'hysteria' hurts. It keeps party pledges, it does not take from labor the bread it earns, it makes protection-built wealth pay income tax. It elects senators direct from the people. They call it hysteria because it means we can have no more senators from the New York Central railroad, no more senators from the Southern Express company; no more senators from the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad; no more senators from the Standard Oil trust.

"They call it hysteria because it prevents the classes from exploiting the masses and brings the government back to the people. After all, the real hysterics are not the people who stand upon the house tops and cry for reform, but the people who are guarding special privilege and are seeing the castles built by privilege tumble down about their heads.

"No, gentlemen," continued the secretary, "the victims of hysteria are not the forward looking, promise keeping reformers, who quietly convince the people that this new way, this gospel of progressive statesmanship is best for the country, but your hysterical man is that inarticulate exclamation point of self-intoxicated patriotism who madly waves the Stars and Stripes with one hand and grips his rebate-provided, protection-fostered wealth with the other, and bewails an alleged tendency to put a period to class legislation; who wildly proclaim that we are turning away from those fundamental principles through which we have come to our present high state.

Legislators and Corporations.

"Legislators in the recent past have been the favorites of great corporations. They have felt a compelling power from 'higher up.' The impersonal element in the situation made it hard to cure, but at last the ax has been laid at the root of the tree, and the people have demanded that all this must be changed. How? By legalized primaries, even for president, by pure food laws, by an income tax, by a lower tariff, by laws to protect seamen, by regulation of trusts, by the abolition of interlocking directorates and rebates, etc.

"Take the tariff. The men who revised it were not hysterical. They used figures and facts. They were painstaking and scientific, and what was the answer? The beneficiaries of protection, 'the infant industries, gray and hoary with age, and obese from their long pull at the pap-bottle cried out: 'You are going to impoverish our country.' Four months under the new tariff have passed and the report of Secretary of Commerce Redfield declares that 'the flooding of our markets with the cheap wares of Europe has not happened,' as predicted and America's foreign trade is evidencing a healthy growth.

"The latest exhibition of hysteria is the effort to prevent passage of the currency bill. It is well known by everybody that this bill is certain to become a law substantially as now framed and the principal features of it are as good as upon the statue books, and yet those who would destroy confidence in the American government and its ability to control its finances, dub as hysteria the effort to pass a long-needed currency reform.

The Real Hysterics.

"Take conservation: The waste of our resources has been so wanton as to rob unborn generations. Men have risen up and declared it must stop. Those who wished to take all the coal for their generation and permit a few concerns to grab up all the mines and minerals declared that the conservationists were crazy. By this craft they had their wealth.

"Those who wished to impose imperialism upon our country, forgetting that government by consent of the governed is the basis of our liberty; those who wished to annex lands across the seas and change our government to one-half free and half colonial, were logically certain to be eventually reversed as those who held out for slavery in face of Lincoln's prophecy that this country Lincoln's prophecy that this country could not exist half free and half slave. They are the hysterics. They have gone around as though booted and spurred to ride other men, and some of them have applauded at public dinners the song 'Damn, Damn, Damn, the Philippines.'

"This so-called hysteria, denounced by standpatters and reactionaries, is democracy, the rule of the people. In every generation the standpatters have sought to have forward-looking men declared fanatics and lunatics. Bright and Gobden were the destroyers of English liberty. Jefferson was a leveller and a demagogue. They were all hysterics."

Secretary Daniels was foremost of the native Carolinians who attended the banquet. The army and the navy's active service were represented among the guests by Rear Admirals Hugo Osterhaus and Cameron M. Winslow and Captain Albert Gleaves, commandant of the Brooklyn navy yard. Martin W. Littleton, former representative, discussed administration measures and pleaded for a larger navy.

SAYS HE WITNESSED GIRL'S MISCONDUCT WITH MEN CALLERS

Rome, Ga., December 17.—(Special.)—A sensational suit for slander was heard in Floyd city court this afternoon when Horace Isom, a prominent young married man, was placed on trial for alleged maligning of the character of Ruth Harris, the pretty seventeen-year-old stepdaughter of a Rome physician.

Witnesses testified that Isom, who is twenty-five years old and married, had accused Miss Harris of misconduct with young men callers at her home, and had stated that he would not continue to live next door to such people. Isom admitted the remarks in his statement to the jury and asserted that they were true. He described amatory and immoral conduct which he claimed to have seen through a window left unshaded.

The jury reached an agreement after court had adjourned for the day and returned a sealed verdict, which will be read tomorrow morning.

AMATEURS PLEASE

Society Vaudeville at Atlanta Gets Much Applause.

Society vaudeville, presented at the Atlanta theater last night under the auspices of the S. V. D. fraternity for the benefit of the Industrial Home for the Blind, proved to be one great big continuous surprise with a steady stream of smaller surprises running all through the performance.

It is hard to pick distinguishing features from the bill, but it is probable that first honors must go to James I. Brush and Charles B. Parmer, musical and dramatic directors. The ensemble work and chorus singing evidenced painstaking effort on their part.

"Hall and Dull" in "Harmony and Fun," made a splendid opening. The musical sketch, "Camping at Silver Lake," by Charles Carter Brush, was the first taste of the chorus which made such a hit. Miss Myrtle Evans, in melody and dancing, scored a pronounced hit, and the singing of Miss Hazel Massa deserved the applause it brought.

The remainder of the program consisted of two sketches and a tabloid musical comedy. In the sketches the work of Misses Marie Brady, Mildred Sault, Bonnie Kate Martin and Geraldine Vignaux and Messrs. Samuel S. Swilling, J. H. Nicholson and J. H. Bucknell deserves special mention.

The quartet composed of Messrs. S. J. Phillips, Charles Finney, Merrill Osborne and Tom Callahan, was compelled to answer many encores.

CHARGED WITH SWINDLE

W. E. Morefield Under Bond for Stock Deal.

Calhoun, Ga., December 17.—(Special.)—W. E. Morefield, of Atlanta, and W. S. Guest, of Rome, were arrested today in Atlanta and brought here by an officer on a charge of cheating and swindling. They were brought before Justice of the Peace Durham and waived commitment trial. Bond was fixed at $1,000 each, and was made by Guest's father-in-law, who is W. M. Selman, of Rome.

The defendants were charged with selling worthless stock to W. J. Langston, of Calhoun, to the amount of $2,500 in the Gray Car Door company of Atlanta. They claimed to represent the Southern Stock and Bond company, a firm which is not chartered, but which is composed of four partners—two men named Phillips and Bishop, respectively, and the two defendants—and has been operating in Fulton county. Langston found that his stock was worthless and swore out warrants for all four of the partners, but Phillips and Bishop have so far evaded arrest.

Both Guest and Morefield state that they are innocent and have been used as agents of the other men involved, and that they themselves received none of the stock except a slight commission. They state that the money was turned over to Mr. Gray, of the Gray Car Door company. The latter firm has no charter, but possesses a patent on a freight car door, an invention perfected by Mr. Gray.
